INTRODUCTION TO

COMMERCIAL COURTS ACT, 2015 - ARBITRATION - IPR -

Justice M. Sundar

Judge, Madras High Court

PART I-DETERMINATION OF JURISDICTION UNDER ACT 4 OF 2016

- Jurisdiction of Commercial Court under Section 6 of Act 4 of 2016.
- Jurisdiction of Commercial Division under Section 7 of Act 4 of 2016.
- Interpretation of the phraseology in sections 6 and 7 will make it clear that "Commercial Dispute" and "Specified Value" should be read conjunctively
- Both conditions under section 2(1)(c) "Commercial Dispute" and section 2(1)(i) "Specified Value" have to be fulfilled

COMMERCIAL DISPUTE OF SPECIFIED VALUE

Commercial Dispute- Section 2(1)(c)- 22 Sub clauses.

- The Supreme Court in M/s Kandla Port v. OCI (2018) 4 LW 204 held that each of the 22 sub clauses constitute a single neat pigeon hole.
- Madras High Court applied the ratio in (2006) 9 SCC 591 to interpret the term "arising out off". The Single judge held that the term has a wide meaning and should be interpreted accordingly.

Specified Value – Section 2(1)(i)

- > From 23.10.2015 to 3.5.2018 the 'Specified Value' was I crore
- From 3.5.2018 onwards the specified value has been brought down to 3 Lakhs, due to the Commercial Courts, Commercial Division and Commercial Appellate Division of High Court (Amendment) Ordinance, 2018 which fructified into a Act; Commercial Courts, Commercial Division and Commercial Appellate Division of High Court (Amendment) Act, 2018 [Act 28 of 2018]
- Act 28 of 2018 was passed by both the house of parliament and received the Presidential assent on 20.8.2018 and notified on 21.8.2018, however it was given retrospective effect from 3.5.2018

SSANGYONG ENGINEERING & CONSTRUCTION CO. LTD. VS. NATIONAL HIGHWAYS AUTHORITY OF INDIA LTD.

Facts

- The dispute arose out of a contract between the parties for construction of a four-lane bypass on a National Highway in the State of Madhya Pradesh. The agreed method of compensation for inflated prices was the Wholesale Price Index ("WPI") following 1993 1994 as the base year.
- National Highways Authority of India ("NHAI") subsequently issued a circular revising the WPI to follow 2004 2005 as the base year for calculating the inflated cost, which was disputed by Ssangyong.
- The parties referred this dispute to a three member arbitral tribunal. The majority award upheld the revision of WPI as being within the terms of the contract. Challenged before Delhi High Court and then the Supreme Court.

Issue

- The definition of public policy after the 2015 amendment The Appellant's appeal relied on two sub-sections of S.34 of the A&C Act-s.34(2)(a)(iii) and s.34(2)(b)(ii).
- The prospective nature of the 2015 amendment
- Recognition of minority decisions

SSANGYONG ENGINEERING & CONSTRUCTION CO. LTD. VS. NATIONAL HIGHWAYS AUTHORITY OF INDIA LTD. 2 JUDGE BENCH

Holding

- The Supreme Court acknowledged the substantial changes and narrowing of the scope of appeals from arbitral awards that had resulted from the 2015 amendments. The Supreme Court held that the amendments to s.34 would apply to appeals made after the date of the 2015 amendments even though the arbitral proceedings had commenced prior to the date of such amendments.
- Second ground of appeal under s.34(2)(b)(ii), the Supreme Court noted that the parameters of challenge under this section is that "substantively or procedurally, some fundamental principle of justice which has been breached, and which shocks the conscience of the Court". By applying the unilateral NHAI Circular and by substituting a workable formula under the agreement between the parties with another formula, the Supreme Court held that the majority award had effectively created a new contract between the parties. Thus, the majority award was de hors the agreement between the parties.
- The Court went on to say that "This being the case, a fundamental principle of justice has been breached, namely, that a unilateral addition or alteration of a contract can never be foisted upon an unwilling party, nor can a party to the agreement be liable to perform a bargain not entered into with the other party. Clearly, such a course of conduct would be contrary to fundamental principles of justice as followed in this country, and shocks the conscience of this Court."
- The Supreme Court added a note of caution that the ground under Section 34(2)(b)(ii) is available only in very exceptional circumstances, and that, "Under no circumstance can any Court interfere with an arbitral award on the ground that justice has not been done in the opinion of the Court. That would be an entry into the merits of the dispute which... is contrary to the ethos of Section 34 of the 1996 Act.
- The Supreme Court thus allowed the appeal and set aside the majority arbitral award (and the High Court orders that had upheld the majority award). It also noted that when an appeal against an arbitral award is allowed, the scheme of s.34 requires that the disputes decided by such award would need to be referred afresh to another arbitration. At the same time, it acknowledged that any new proceedings would run counter to a key objective of the Act, i.e., speedy resolution of disputes. In the specific facts before it, however, there was also a minority arbitral award which was based upon the formula mentioned in the agreement between the parties. The Supreme Court exercised its inherent powers under Article 142 of the Constitution of India to uphold the minority arbitral award, and directed that the award, together with interest, be executed between the parties.
- With respect to the section 87 the Supreme Court held that, if enacted it will be a back-burner to important amendments made to Sections 28 and 34 in particular, which, as has been stated by the Statement of Objects and Reasons, have resulted in delay of disposal of arbitration proceedings and increase in interference of courts in arbitration matters.

CONCLUSION

Salutary principles and sublime philosophy underlying Section 34 are interalia constituted by:

- (a) Delicate / fine balance between sanctity of finality of awards and sacrosanct need for judicial review
- (b) Limited contours / perimeter made up of eight slots, and
- (c) Expeditious disposal.

Parle Products is with respect to erstwhile TM Act, but has been the approved test even in the TM Act 1999 as upheld by the SC in M/S S.M. Dyechem Ltd vs M/S Cadbury (India) Ltd 2000 (5) SCC 573

PARLE PRODUCTS (P) LTD. V. J.P. AND CO., (1972) | SCC 618 PARA 9

Para 9. It is, therefore, clear that in order to come to the conclusion whether one mark is deceptively similar to another, the broad and essential features of the two are to be considered. They should not be placed side by side to find out if there are any differences in the design and if so, whether they are of such character as to prevent one design from being mistaken for the other. It would be enough if the impugned mark bears such an overall similarity to the registered mark as would be likely to mislead a person usually dealing with one to accept the other if offered to him. .....After all, an ordinary purchaser is not gifted with the powers of observation of a Sherlock Homes.....
