NEWSLETTER

Editorially Speaking...

The NJA in this second volume of Newsletter for the Academic Year 2015-16 tabulates graphically response received from participating judges to various academic programmes on pre-training questionnaire formulated to understand the nature of work, difficulties faced at individual jurisdictions, infrastructure support available to individual judges, their opinions on reform agenda and so on. Such graphical analysis helps in presenting large volume of information in fewer words with pictorial deductions making it attractive to read even to those who are extremely busy.

Apart from information collected as response to pre-training questionnaire from judges attending academic programmes, the NJA also separately collects information from the high court registry and the state judicial academies. Such information collected from the past months is also graphically presented for easy reference and further research. For instance, the Directory of 703 POCSO court presiding officers under jurisdiction of 18 high courts is included in this Newsletter. This Directory will facilitate easy communication between these 703 presiding officers and such communication in turn will help in achieving uniform application of laws on prevention of child sexual abuse in the country by POCSO courts. Also, monthly reports submitted to the NJA by 17 state judicial academies (SJA) in pursuant to the Resolution No. 9 and 23 adopted in the Chief Justices' Conference of 2015, provided another set of information which is also graphically represented and in tabular form reproduced. This will provide reader an overall picture about the nature and the number of training activities undertaken at the SJA level in different jurisdictions within India.

Personally, I would like to thank (i) Mr. K. Uthirapathy, Registrar at the NJA who did final proof reading to give third eye view, (ii) Ms. Sangeeta R. Misra, Documentation Manager at the NJA who pointed out linguistic blunders in reports to save us from embarrassment, (iii) Ms. Ruchi Singh, law associate and faculty at the NJA who took pains of following up with other faculty members to get their reports submitted within the deadline prescribed, (iv) Ms. K. Esakki Ammal, law intern who just after joining her internship assignment at the NJA agreed to do graphical and tabular format analysis for response collected from the conference P942.

I also place my appreciation for the entire administration of the NJA whose members support environment conducive for research, training and publication work. Finally, the internship programme is proving successful and the interns whose reports are made part of this newsletter prove that with some mentoring and supervision interns can add to research output by the NJA.

Much interesting data emerges from all the 12 contents of this Newsletter and we at the NJA hope that the reader would take time to go through the information presented and suggest ideas for further research and analysis to us at our email ID njabhopal@nja.gov.in

P-937: Conference on Judicial Administration, Response by Judges

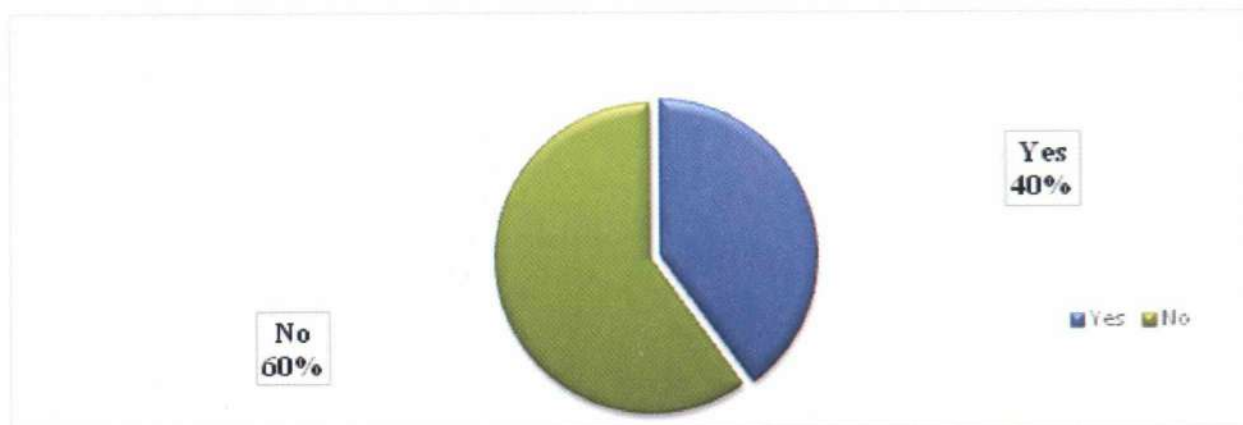

Rajesh Suman, Assistant Professor, NJA

The NJA organized 2½ days Conference on Judicial Administration for high court justices from August 7-9, 2015. The Conference facilitated discussion on policy level issues in judicial administration to develop greater understanding on bottlenecks faced in performance of courts. A questionnaire was provided to participating justices. Out of 31 participating justices, 15 provided their responses. Herein below information is tabulated from 15 filled responses.

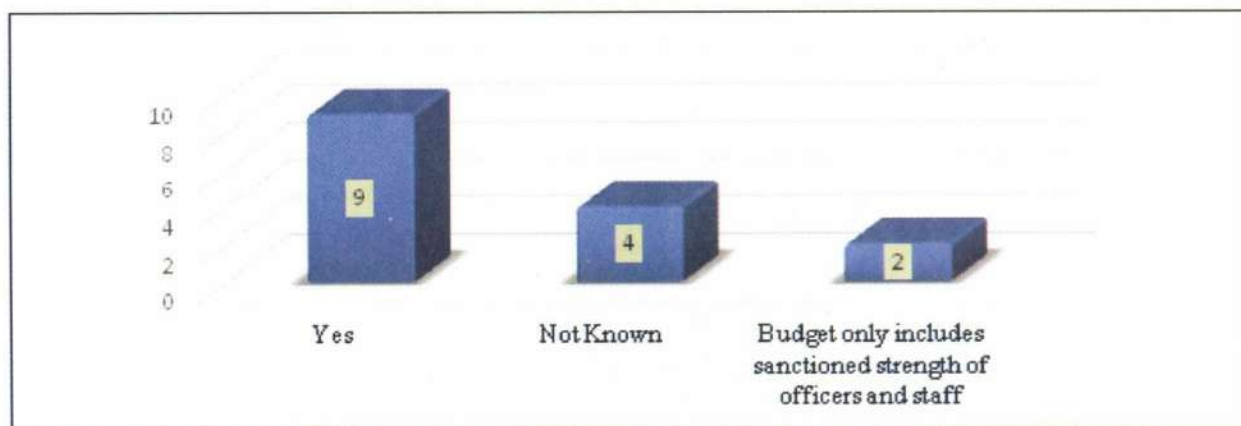

1. On whether there takes place any consultation between registrar(s) and high court justices in budget preparation for the high court and district courts, out of 15 justices, 5 justices from high courts of Himachal Pradesh, Karnataka, Madras and Delhi mentioned that registrars consults them in the budget preparation process, 5 justices from high courts of Karnataka, Calcutta, Orissa and Punjab & Haryana mentioned that registrars do not consult them in budget preparation process, 2 justices from high courts of Madras and Tripura informed that the Committee takes care of budget matters, 2 justices from high courts of Gauhati and Jammu & Kashmir informed that the accounts section deals with the matter. Only 1 justice from high court of Allahabad mentioned that he consults district judges for budget proposals. This leads to an inference that the registry of the high court in budget preparation matters do not consults all high court justices.

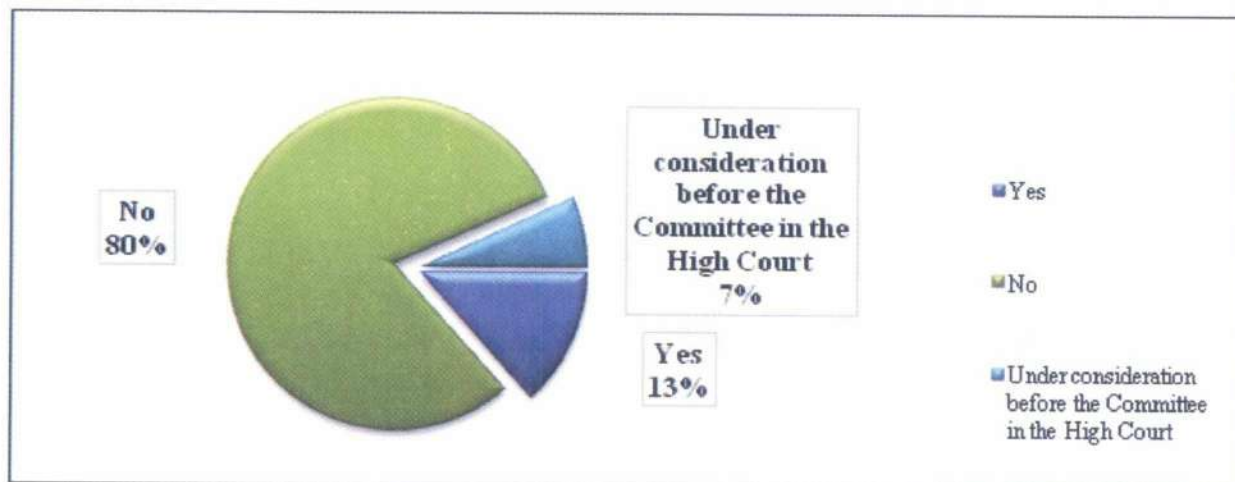

2. On whether officers in the high court registry in charge of budget preparation, take in writing, note of demands/ requirements of high court justices, justices from 4 high courts of Jammu & Kashmir, Madras, Delhi, and Andhra Pradesh informed that registry officers take note of their demands/requirements and 8 justices from high court of Gauhati, Himachal Pradesh, Tripura, Allahabad, Karnataka, Calcutta, Orissa, Punjab and Haryana informed in the negative. This further proves that demands and requirements of all high court justices are not taken note of in budget preparation.

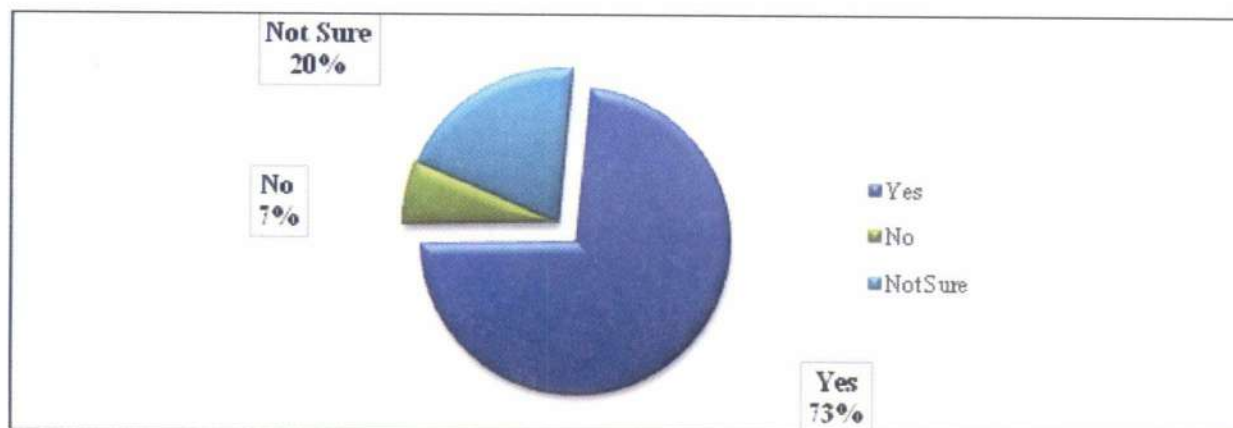

3. On whether budget includes earmarking of funds for dealing with issues of pendency and arrears, 9 justices from high courts of Uttarakhand, Gauhati, Tripura, Karnataka, Jammu and Kashmir, Madras, Delhi and Andhra Pradesh gave an affirmative response, 4 justices from high courts of Himachal Pradesh, Allahabad, Calcutta, Punjab and Haryana said they do not know and 2 justices from high courts of Orissa said that budget only includes sanctioned strength of officers and staffs. This leads to inference that budget in the high courts do not include problems areas as variables for quantifying allocation of funds.

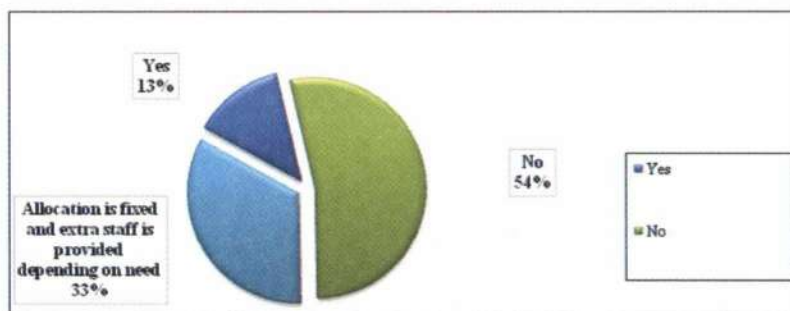

4. On whether the high courts have appointed professional accountants as recommended by the National Court Management System Policy and Action Plan, only judges from Madras High Court informed that such appointment has taken place, judges from high court of Jammu and Kashmir informed that such appointment is under consideration. Other 11 justices from the high courts of Uttarakhand, Gauhati, Himachal Pradesh, Tripura, Allahabad, Karnataka, Calcutta, Orissa, Delhi, Punjab and Haryana and Andhra Pradesh informed that there is no proposal in their high courts to engage services of professional accountants.

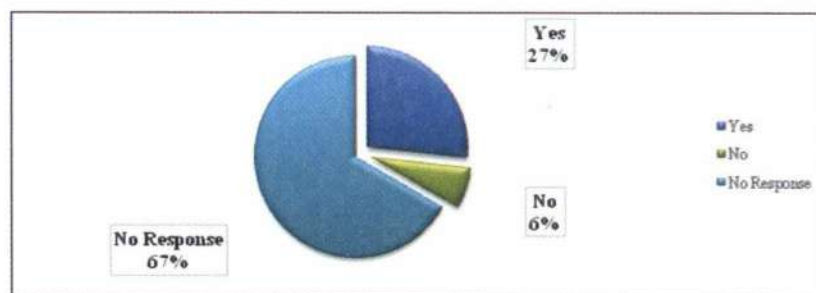

5. On being asked their opinion on utility of establishing judicial council for budget formation and management to strengthen financial management in the high court, 1 justice from the high court of Uttarakhand did not see any utility, 3 justices from the high courts of Delhi, Punjab & Haryana and Andhra Pradesh were not sure of any such utility and 11 justices from high courts of Gauhati, Himachal Pradesh, Tripura, Allahabad, Karnataka, Jammu & Kashmir, Calcutta, Orissa, Madras and Delhi saw utility of such council.

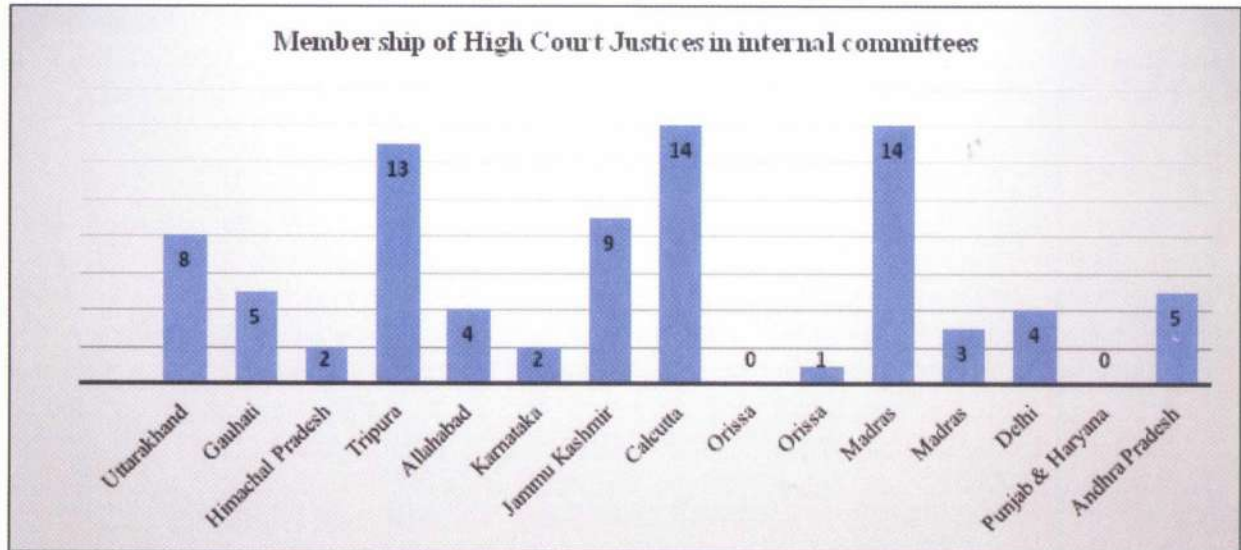

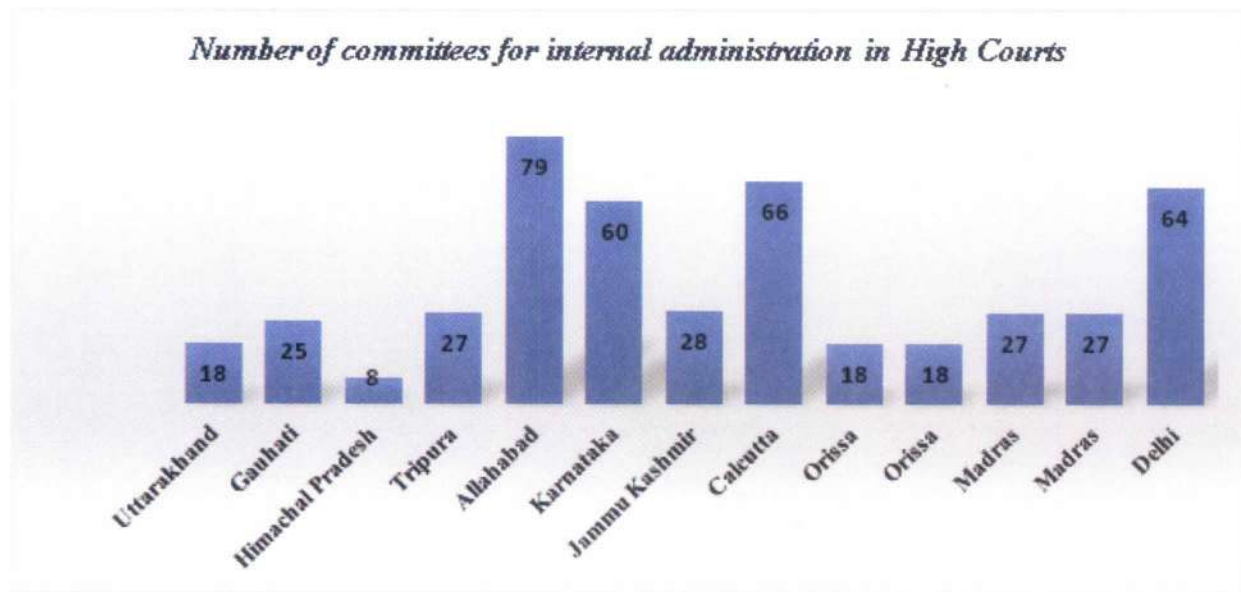

6. On whether justices are provided by their registrars human resources to help them in their judicial and administrative work, 2 justices from the high courts of Uttarakhand and Allahabad confirmed that their registrars allocate human resource to them to assist in their judicial and administrative work, 7 justices from the high courts of Gauhati, Himachal Pradesh, Tripura, Karnataka, Orissa, Punjab and Haryana, Andhra Pradesh informed that no such help is rendered by their registrars, whereas 6 justices from the high courts of Jammu & Kashmir, Calcutta, Madras and Delhi informed that such allocation is fixed and extra staff is provided to them on their demand. This leads to an inference that majority of the high court justices do not get adequate human resource support to help them in their administrative and judicial work.

7. On number of e-courts established under their jurisdiction and if they make use of audio-visual conference equipment to monitor progress of e-court project, 11 justices from high courts of Uttarakhand, Gauhati, Himachal Pradesh, Tripura, Allahabad, Karnataka, Jammu & Kashmir, Calcutta, Orissa and Andhra Pradesh mentioned that there is no e-court under their jurisdiction; 2 Justices from high courts of Madras mentioned that there are 21 e-courts in their jurisdiction; 1 Justice from high court of Delhi mentioned about the benches of High Court which are e-courts; 1 Justice from the high court of Punjab & Haryana mentioned having no knowledge of this aspect; 1 justice from high court of Orissa informed that 111 court complexes have been covered under e-courts projects which included 423 courts. But total paperless court as contemplated under the e-court project is yet to be achieved. On use of audio-visual conference equipment to monitor progress of e-courts project, justice from high court of Orissa clarified that he does not use any such audio-visual equipment, 4 justices from high courts of Uttarakhand, Gauhati, Himachal Pradesh and Jammu & Kashmir confirmed that they make use of such equipment to monitor e-court project under them and 10 justices from high courts of Tripura, Allahabad, Karnataka, Calcutta, Orissa, Madras, Delhi, Punjab & Haryana and Andhra Pradesh did not respond to this questions.

8. On number of committees formed for internal administration in High Court and membership of High Court Justices in those committees, following data emerged:

Above data clarifies that though Allahabad high court has constituted highest number of such committees for internal administration of the high court, about 79 in number, the judge attending the NJA conference was member of only 4 of them; whereas Madras high court has constituted 27 such committees for internal administration, one of the justice attending the NJA conference was member of as many as 14 such committees.

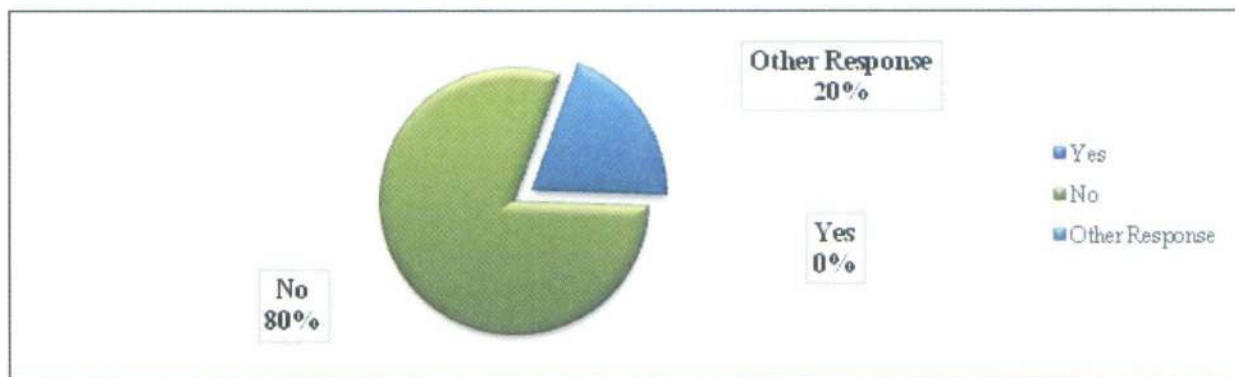

9. On whether the job description is provided to every staff employed in the High Court registry, 9 high courts informed that every staff is employed with job description, 3 high courts did not provide any job description and 3 high courts chose not to respond to this query.

No.	High Court	Yes	No	Other Response
1	Uttarakhand
2	Gauhati	✓	✓
3	Himachal Pradesh			No response
4	Tripura	✓
5	Allahabad	✓
6	Karnataka	✓
7	Jammu & Kashmir			Ministerial Staff is appointed on the described posts

10. On Staff in charge of inventory/store keeping functions in the High Court, following response emerged:

1	Uttarakhand	Management Section
2	Gauhati	Account section staff under supervision of Assistant Registrars (Administration-I)
3	Himachal Pradesh	Judges and GAD branches
4	Tripura	Store section headed by Registrar (Administration)
5	Allahabad	Nazarat Department
6	Karnataka	Registrars
7	Jammu & Kashmir	Ministerial Staff
8	Calcutta	Court Keeper
9	Orissa	Regular staff of store/purchase section looks after such functions under the direct control of one Assistant Registrar (Administration) and the Registrar (Judicial)
10	Madras	Separate stationary department overseen by a Committee
11	Delhi	General Branch of the Registry
12	Punjab & Haryana	Do not know
13	Andhra Pradesh	Registrar (Administration) and Registrar (Management) assisted by Deputy and Assistant Registrars and other members of staff

11. On whether the staff engaged in inventory/store keeping functions are sent for regular trainings on the subject of procurement provided by the Ministry of Finance, 3 high court judges from Delhi, Punjab & Haryana and Andhra Pradesh expressed no knowledge on the subject and other 12 high court justices from Uttarakhand, Gauhati, Himachal Pradesh, Tripura, Allahabad, Karnataka, Jammu & Kashmir, Calcutta, Orissa, Madras emphatically denied any such training being provided.

12. On calling management experts as consultants to study the high court registry structure and seeking an advice on better methods for organizing existing state of affairs, only justices from Allahabad and Andhra Pradesh provided that their high courts have taken help of management experts to study the structure of the registry.

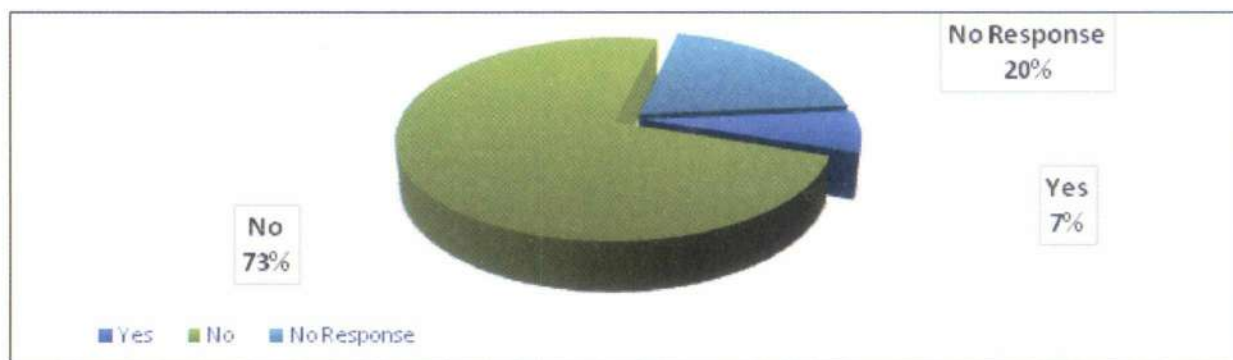

13. On whether high courts justice came across any redundant procedures which delays court proceedings, justices from Delhi, Andhra Pradesh, Uttarakhand, Himachal Pradesh, Tripura and Calcutta did not respond and justices from Allahabad, Jammu & Kashmir, Orissa, Madras and Punjab & Haryana provided following response:

1	Allahabad	The idea of serving respondents through message on their mobile phone can be an effective and quick mode of service.
3	Jammu & Kashmir	Unnecessary adjournments sought by the counsel delay the process of court proceedings. The counsel in whose favor the interim directions are passed, should be conditionally bound down to serve the other side as early as possible to argue the matter on merit. Only photocopy of the records of trial court should be called in the High Court.
4	Orissa	Non-cooperation of the Bar and unwanted strikes. No Court work after full Court references on demise of Advocates, leaders or former luminaries.
5	Madras (1)	The practice of adjourning cases by a week or two must be discontinued with specific dates being assigned.
6	Madras (2)	The pecuniary jurisdiction of subordinate judiciary may be enhanced to keep the District Court as a final court of fact. The High Court can be given jurisdiction to deal with the cases only on a question of law. The practice of two decrees i.e. preliminary decree and final decree, may be dispensed with. The power of revision to the High Court may be taken away. Certain writs can be given to the District Courts, especially with respect to action or inaction of authorities at the District level.
8	Punjab & Haryana	Most of the cases should be decided at motion stage. Adjournment of cases should be granted very rarely.

14. On nature of administrative responsibilities assigned to them, following picture emerged from participating high court judges:

High Court	Administrative responsibilities of High Court Justices in High Court
Uttarakhand	Administrative Judge of some districts & chairman/member of administrative committees
Gauhati	Member of administrative committees
Himachal Pradesh	Member of administrative committees
Tripura	Administrative Judge of some districts & member of 13 administrative committees
Allahabad	Monitoring of proceeding and functioning of the judgeship
Karnataka	Administrative Judge of one district & chairman/member of 2 administrative committees
Jammu & Kashmir	Chairman of RTI Committee and member in 8 committees
Calcutta	Setting question paper and examination, evaluation of judicial officers, selection of library books, selection of staff and framing of rules
Orissa	Member in administrative committees
Madras	Member of administrative committees
Delhi	Member of administrative committees
Punjab & Haryana	Member of committee for nominating judicial officers for training
Andhra Pradesh	Member of administrative committees

15. On conflict between administrative responsibilities and adjudication work only Allahabad justice found such conflict. Judges from Tripura, Karnataka and Jammu & Kashmir did not respond to questions and judges from Calcutta, Orissa, Madras, Delhi, Uttarakhand, Gauhati, Himachal Pradesh, Punjab and Haryana and Andhra Pradesh did not find any scope for any such conflict.

16. On how they are briefed on matters of transfer/promotion/ suspension/dismissal of judicial officers, following picture emerged:

High Court	Who briefs you on matters of transfer/promotion/ suspension/dismissal of judicial officers?
	Transfer/Promotion	Suspension/Dismissal
Uttarakhand	Registrar General or Registrar nominated by Registrar General	Registrar General or District Judge Concerned or Registrar (Vigilance).

Punjab & Haryana	Only during full house meeting	Only during full house meeting
Andhra Pradesh	On all important matters, the Full Court takes decisions after necessary reflection on the subjects	On all important matters the Full Court takes decisions after necessary reflection on the subjects

17. On best practices learned from other high courts through this Conference, following high courts responded:

No.	High Court	What are the best practices you have learned from other High Courts through this Conference?
1	Uttarakhand	Suggestion of the Kerala High Court and Chhattisgarh High Court that account officer from the state account services should be taken on deputation for purpose of financial management and taking services of court managers to supervise the construction and repair of infrastructure and other administrative work
2	Karnataka	Use of Dragon Dicta
3	Jammu & Kashmir	E-courts system of various High Courts
4	Calcutta	The practice followed in Madras and Andhra Pradesh High Court of having an officer from the accounts department of the state government on deputation for helping in preparation of budget for the High Court.
5	Orissa	Different practices relating to financial administration and evaluation of performances of subordinate judiciary
6	Madras (1)	Evaluation of performance of judicial officer by other High Courts including submission of self-appraisal and maintenance of Red Book in the Orissa High Court. Use of technology in other High Courts. Suggestions given by Justice Sanjib Banerjee regarding setting of norms for evaluation and suggestions by Justice M. Seetharama Murti to have three court managers
7	Madras (2)	Calling officers and having discussion regarding difficulties faced by them
8	Punjab & Haryana	Involvement of junior judges in administrative committee

18. On the best practices from their own high courts which participating wanted to share with their colleague judges, following best practices were provided by participating justices:

High Court	Which best practices in judicial administration from your High Court you want to share with other High Courts?
Uttarakhand	Effective system of listing of cases
Himachal Pradesh	General discussion on major issues in the full court
Karnataka	Online recruitment, E-Newsletter, Judicial Process Reengineering

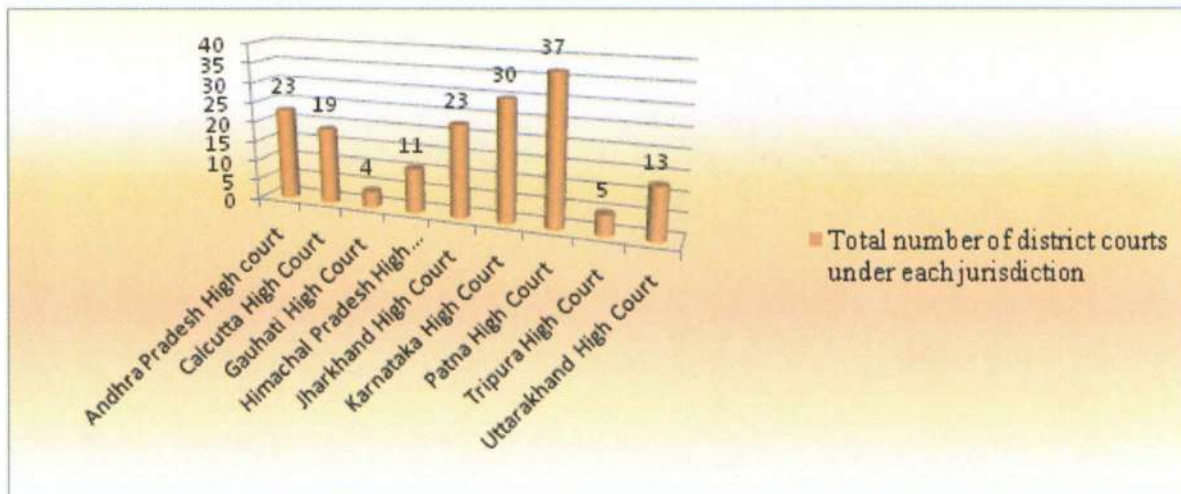

High Court	Which best practices in judicial administration from your High Court you want to share with other High Courts?
Jammu & Kashmir	Sufficient personal staff, particularly for writing judgments for all Justices and the Chief Justice, visit by all judgment writers/stenographers in rotation at residences of Justices for taking dictation, preparation of day to day status of files by law graduates who work as bench secretaries/readers, updating file proceedings and to see that all judicial directions of Court proceedings for completing the pleadings are carried on properly by the registry staff are best practices.
Calcutta	Physical verification of case records by which actual pendency of cases at the High Court and District Court level can be ascertained is a best practice.
Orissa	Fruitful results of the engagement of Court Managers.
Madras	Preparation of early budget, implementation of e-courts project despite the project having frozen to less than 800 courts, fully operational vigilance cell empowered by a mechanism with adequate police force to support and it's monitoring by a committee of High Court Justices.
Madras	Vigilance cell empowered by a mechanism of police force to support and monitored by Committee in High Court.
Delhi	The superintendence and control over the officers of District Court Judiciary is exercised through Committees rather than by individual Judges. The facilitation of the adjudicatory work through e-Courts.
Andhra Pradesh	The committee system, functioning of Judicial Registry, video conferencing facility in the District Units, SMS mobile application for android devices, MS alerts service system for sending SMS alerts in respect of cases filed in the High Court and for knowing the hearing status of cases for advocates and parties are best practices.

P-942: Workshop on the Court Room Technology, Response by Judges

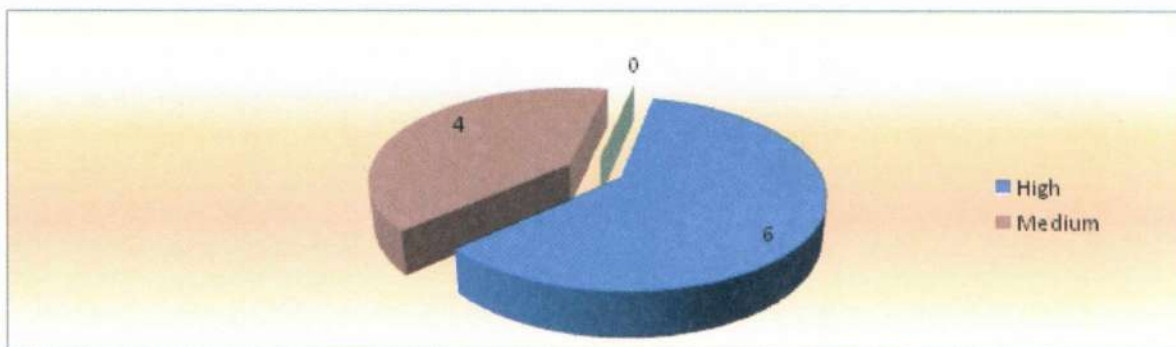

K. Esakki Ammal, Law Intern, NJA

The NJA organized Court Room Technology Workshop from 10th-13th September 2015 to facilitate discussions on technologies used in courtroom procedures in different high courts, postulates of Phase-II of the E-court project, challenges faced by state level computerization committee constituted under the E-court project and so on. The 4 days workshop had six sessions for each day, which included library reading and computer skills training and was attended by 24 justices. Pre-conference questionnaire was prepared and responses were sought from participating justices to understand level of their participation in court computerization project. On the basis of 12 responses received following statistical inferences can be drawn:

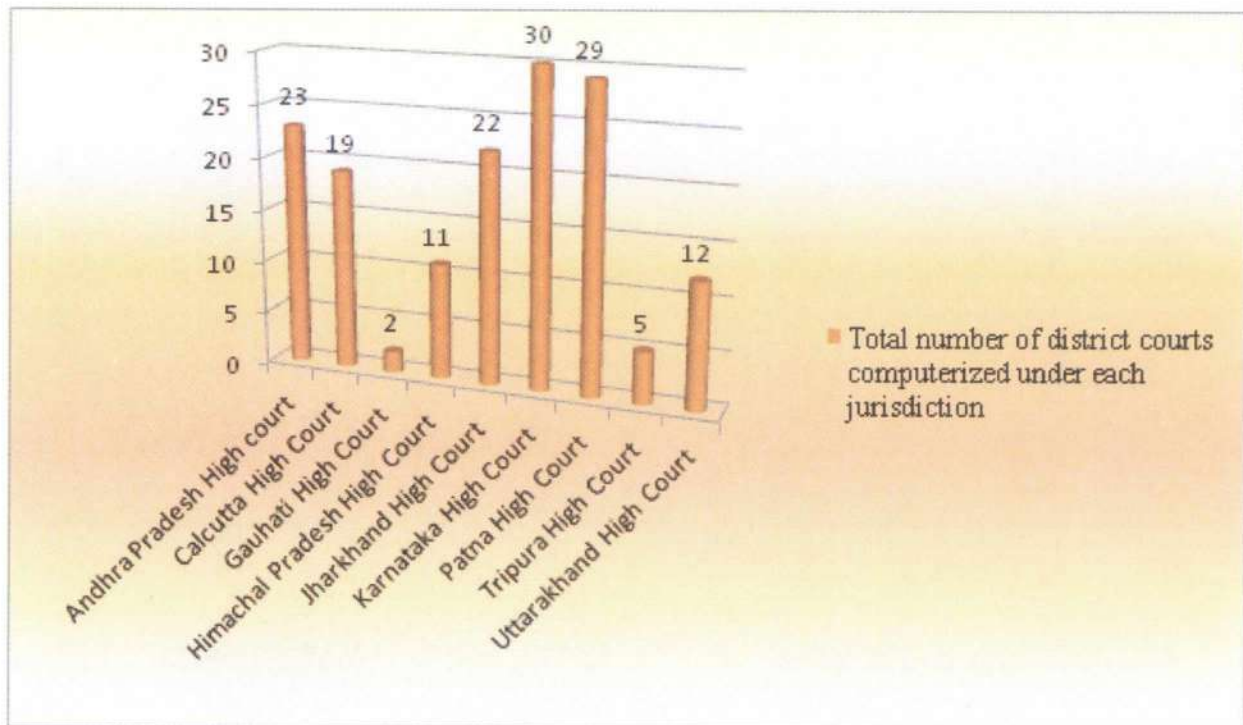

1. On total number of district courts under jurisdiction of each judge, following responses emerged:

P-944: Workshop on the Use of Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) System, Response by Judges

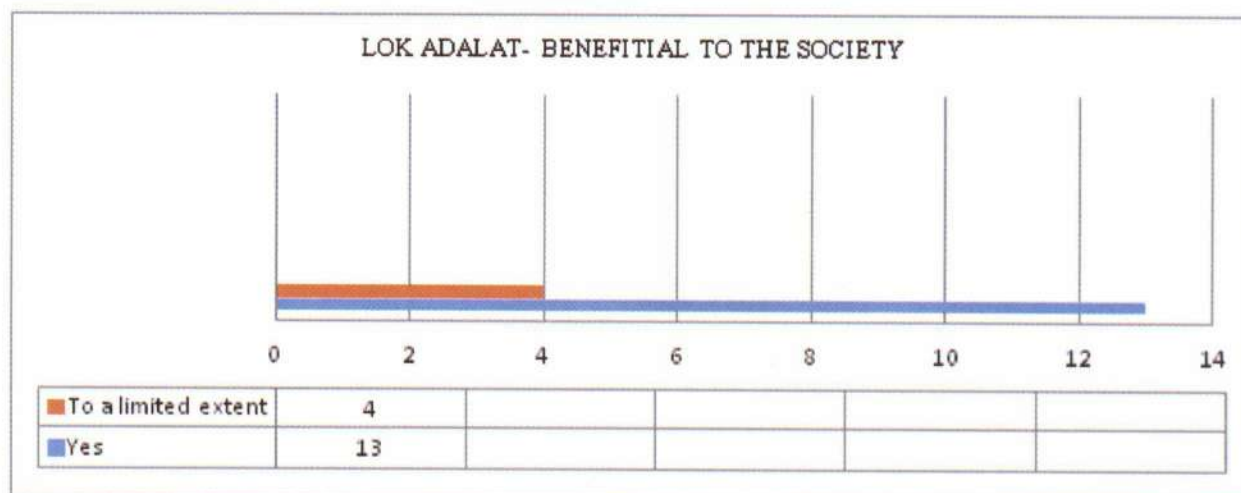

Yogesh Pratap Singh, Research Fellow, NJA

The NJA organized a 3 days workshop on the Use of Alternative Dispute Resolution System for the Principal District Judges (PDJs) from 21st to 23rd September 2015 at the NJA, Bhopal. About 29 PDJs from across the country attended the workshop. A pre-workshop questionnaire was sent to them to seek their responses. Out of 29 PDJs, 18 PDJs responded to the questionnaire and herein below graphical representation of those responses is presented:

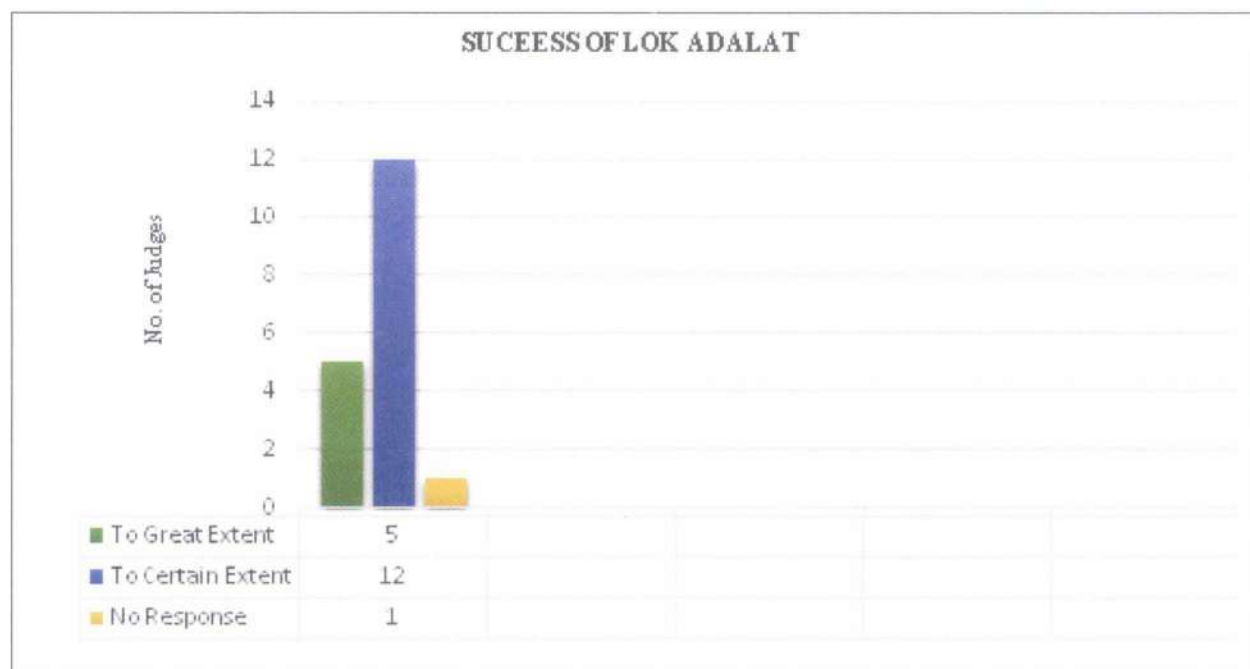

1. As a Referral Judge, which mode of dispute resolution you prefer most to refer a dispute under section 89 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908?

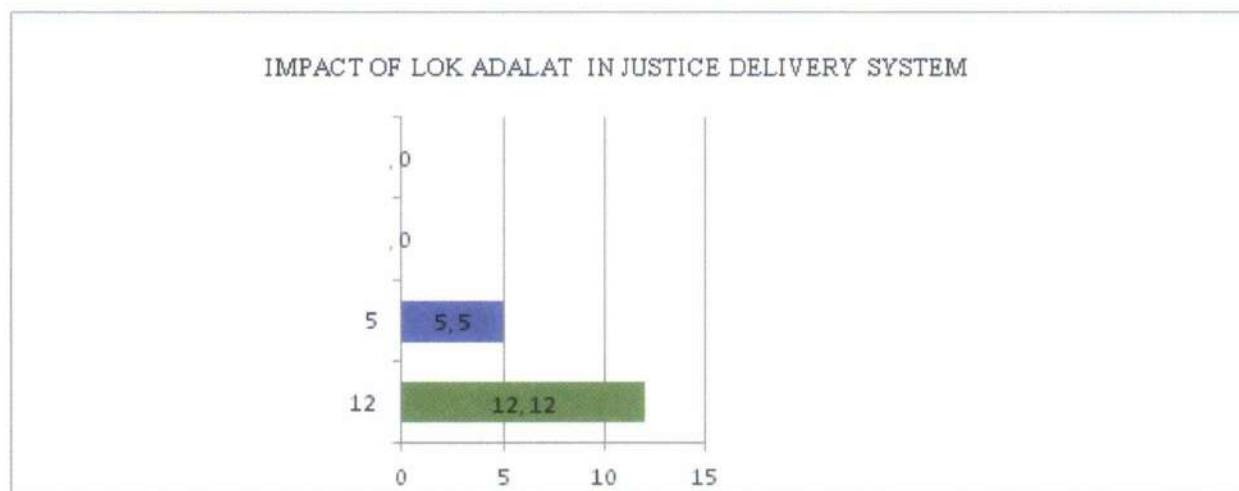

2. Is Lok Adalat method benefitting the weaker sections of the society?

3. To what extent, Lok Adalats are successful in achieving the ideals of the rule of law, equality and social justice?

4. To what extent Lok Adalat is improving the overall scenario in the Justice delivery system in India?

Great extent	05
To certain extent	12

5. Success in resolution of dispute through mediation in the specific dispute category.

D- IN SPECIFIC RELIEF MATTERS

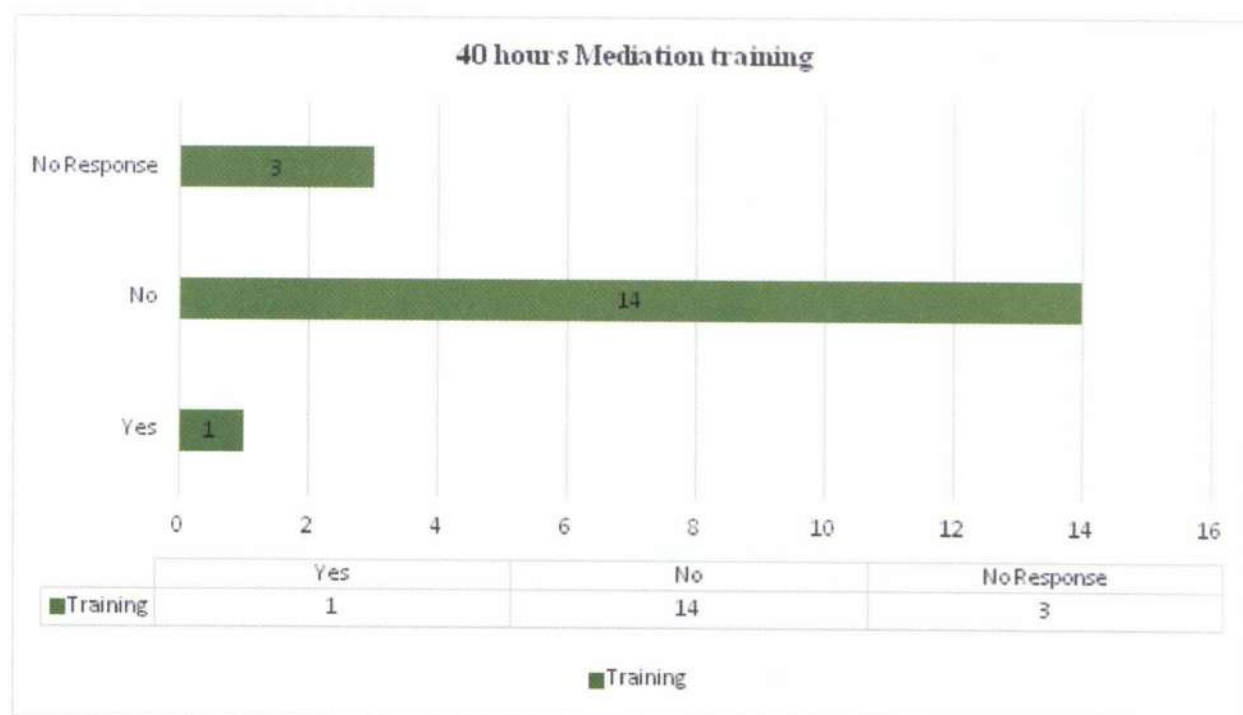

RESOLUTION OF DISPUTE THROUGH MEDIATION IN DIFFERENT CATEGORY OF DISPUTES

6. On most successful mode of ADR in early resolution of dispute?

7. On whether PDJs attending the conference have undergone 40 hours mediation training, only 1 out of 29 PDJs had undergone 40 hours duration mediation training.

RESPONSES ON CHALLENGES FACED IN ADR PROCESS

Lawyers

- Many take it as opportunity of taking time, do not encourage parties to go for settlement.
- Their professional interest of losing the case.
- Misguide the parties
- Refrain from referring the matter for ADR as it affects their earning
- Not willing for mediation.
- They are less interested in the mediation process because they think about decreasing of brief and they do not accept another member of the bar acting as mediator.
- Resistance
- Lawyers have biased approach towards ADR and as such they try to disturb the process by all means.
- Parties are under the direct control of the lawyers, who always try to influence them and discourage them from adopting ADR.

Parties

- Lack of awareness about the ADR process
- Doubt on the entire process.
- In Indian scenario, the parties may sometimes have resorted to the various ADR process which may not be professional such as through brotherhood, panchayats etc. and they may have failed, thus reluctant to go for ADR process.
- Ego and mental attitude.
- Non appearance and unwillingness in the ADR process.
- Lack of patience of parties.
- Hidden agenda.
- Misrepresentation and distortion by the advocates.
- Parties have more confidence on court, and they do not like any third party (mediator) to intervene in to their matter.
- Poor communication skill and listening.
- Stubborn.
- Unwillingness due to their stake and position.

Other stakeholders

- Like in matrimonial disputes, close relations like father, mother and elder one of family plays good enough role in not making parties to reach compromise.
- No honorarium is being provided to mediators for successful/unsuccessful mediation, thus they are losing interest in ADR process.
- Lack of statute in mediation thus require judicial enforceability for finality.
- Not allotting money for mediation.
- Sitting judge of the district court are overburdened, they have no sufficient time, therefore, independent infrastructure for ADR should be developed.
- In Motor accident cases where big amount is involved, co-operations from insurance companies and medical officers are inadequate.
- Absence of proper person to act as a mediator and absence of proper facilities.
- Lack of trained mediator in district court
- Sometime state and its various wings reach to ADR process only under compulsion and tried to stick to their pre-defined norms which sometime derail the process of ADR.

RESPONSES ON DIFFERENT STAGES OF ADR PROCESS

Points to consider for Referral under section 89 CPC

- Element of settlement and compromise.
- Nature of the dispute.
- If the case is older one, parties may be encouraged for mediation.
- Family matters, property disputes must be given priority in selection.
- Suitability of the case for mediation.
- Willingness and consent of the parties to go for mediation.
- When the court proceeding will lead to delayed justice and require huge expenditure.
- When the settlement of the dispute through court, litigation will lead to several other disputes between the parties.
- Monetary value of dispute.
- Interest of parties as prima facie revealed from their pleadings.
- Time already spent by them in litigation.
- Family matters, commercial matters, any complicated legal issue involved, search as to find out for chances of settlement.
- Mentality and goal of parties to solve the problem.
- Need of interference by independent person.
- Less expensive and simple procedure.
- Parties are free to discuss their differences of opinion without disclosure of facts before any courts.
- Parties are directly and actively involved.

- More retired judicial officers should be allowed in ADR system.
- Taking this system to all stake holders vigorously without affecting main stream judicial process and adjudication mechanism.
- Role of advocate, panel lawyers.
- Framing of a uniform statutory law.
- Judicial officers should be posted for searching for proper records to be sent for mediation after discussion with parties and their lawyers.
- Members of the bar should be sensitized.
- General awareness among litigants.

P-947: Seminar on Sentencing Ethics, Response by Judges

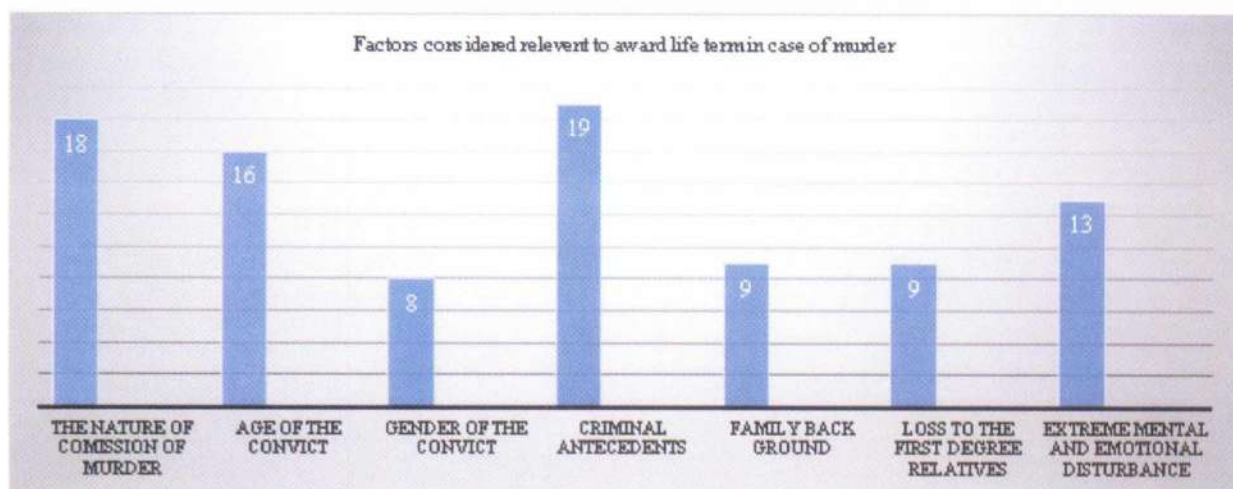

Milind Bhaskar Gawai, Research Fellow, NJA

The NJA organised a 3 days seminar on Sentencing Ethics for the Principal District and Sessions Judges (PDJs) from 02nd to 04th October 2015 to assist them in developing uniform practices and approaches on issues of sentence. 27 PDJs attended this seminar. A pre-seminar questionnaire was circulated to evaluate grounds relied upon while sentencing a convict. 25 PDJs provided their responses and herein below graphical representation of those response is provided:

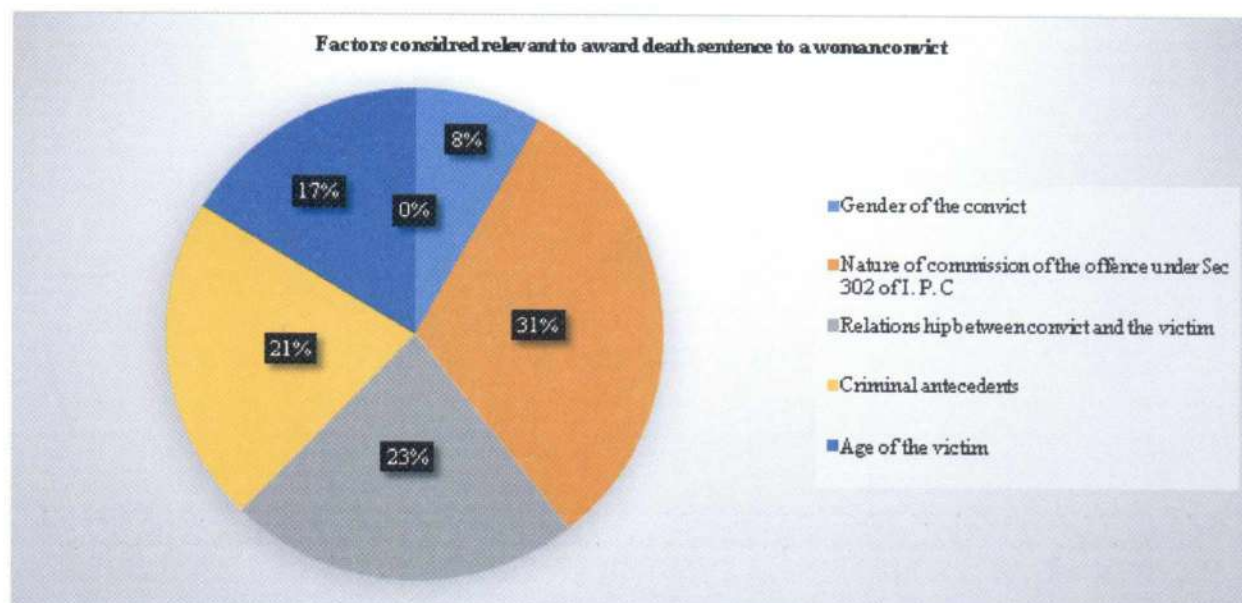

1. On relevant factors for awarding the death sentence, the response reflects inclination of judges to rely on antecedents of the accused and the circumstances surrounding accused.

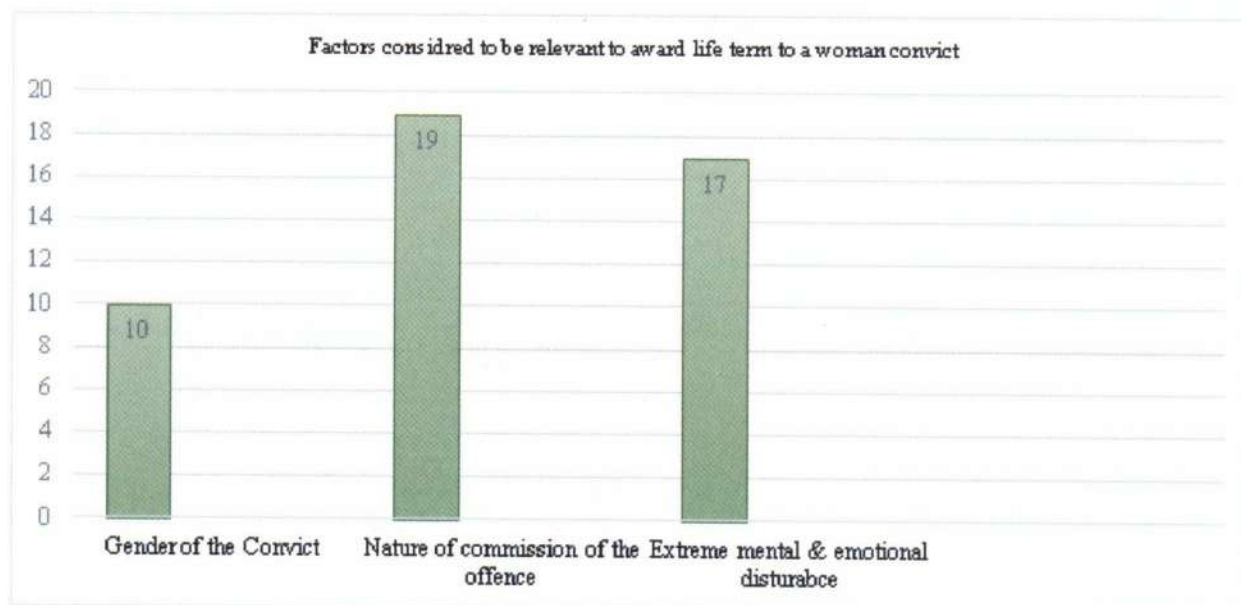

2. On facts and circumstances to be taken into account by a judge to award life term to the convict of capital offence under Section 302 of the Indian Penal Code, majority of them, 19 out of 25 stated that they would be relying on criminal antecedents for the accused.

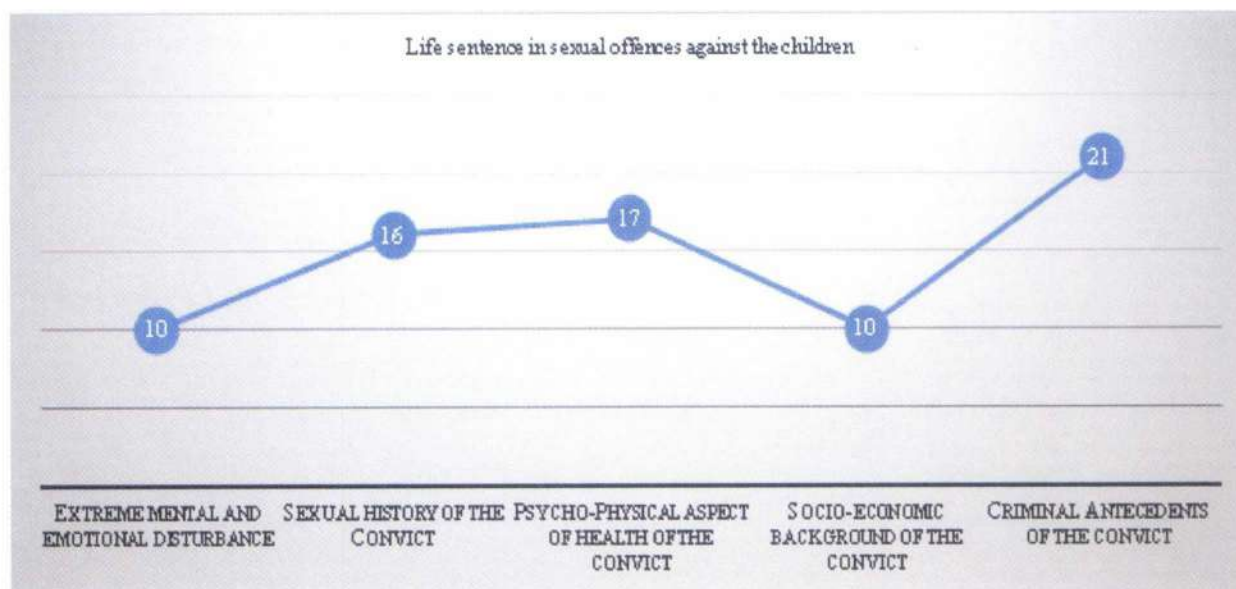

3. On relevant factors considered to award death sentence to the woman convict, majority of them opined that they would consider the nature of offence committed, its gravity as relevant factor.

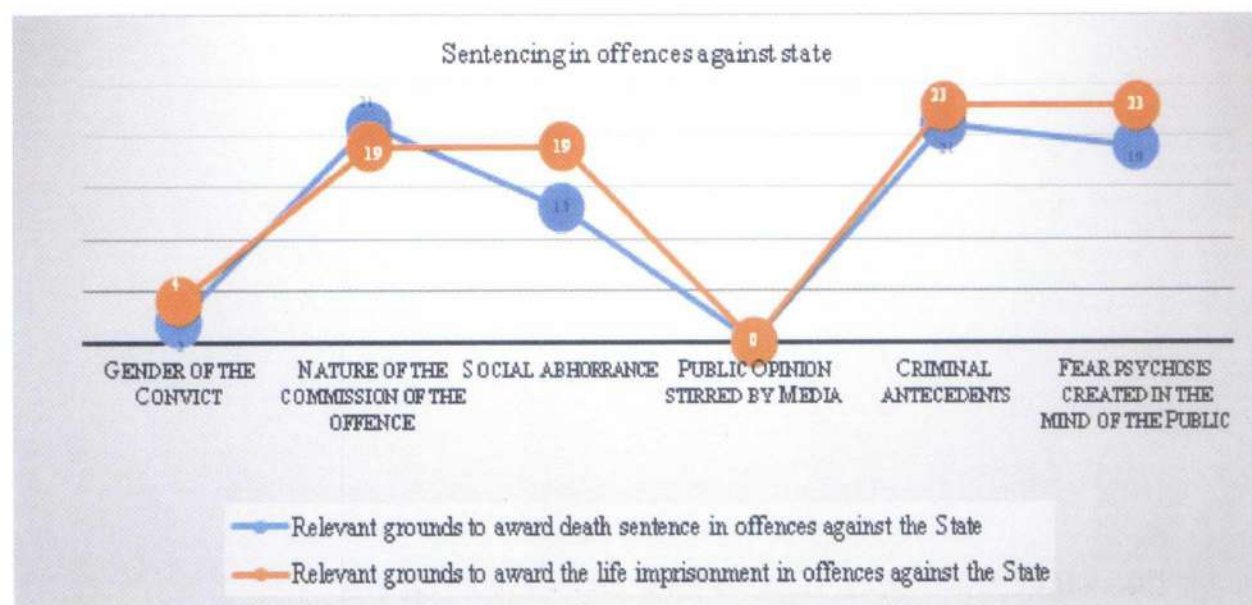

4. On question about which relevant factors are to be taken into account to sentence a woman convict to life imprisonment in a case of murder under section 302 of the Indian Penal Code, majority of judges again said that they would rely on nature of offence committed and only 10 out of 25 said that they would keep gender of accused as consideration when deciding on sentencing issues.

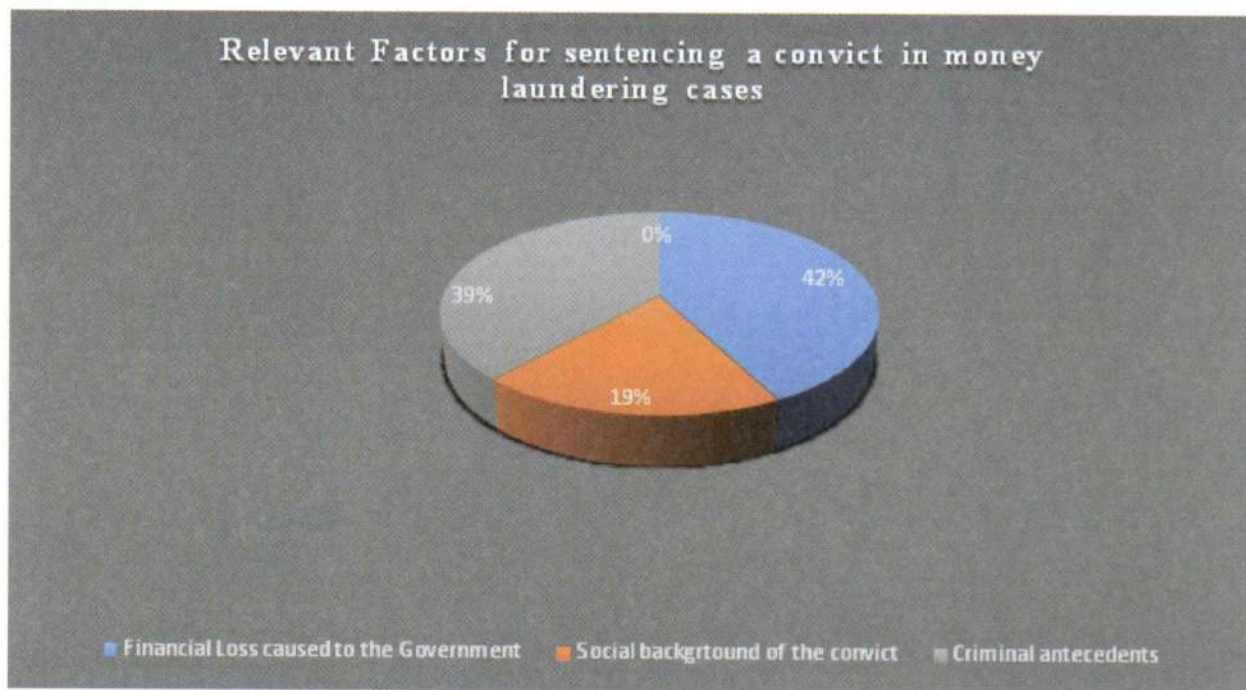

5. On relevant factors judges would consider to award life imprisonment in sexual offences against children, again majority of judges stated that they would look into past records of the convict.

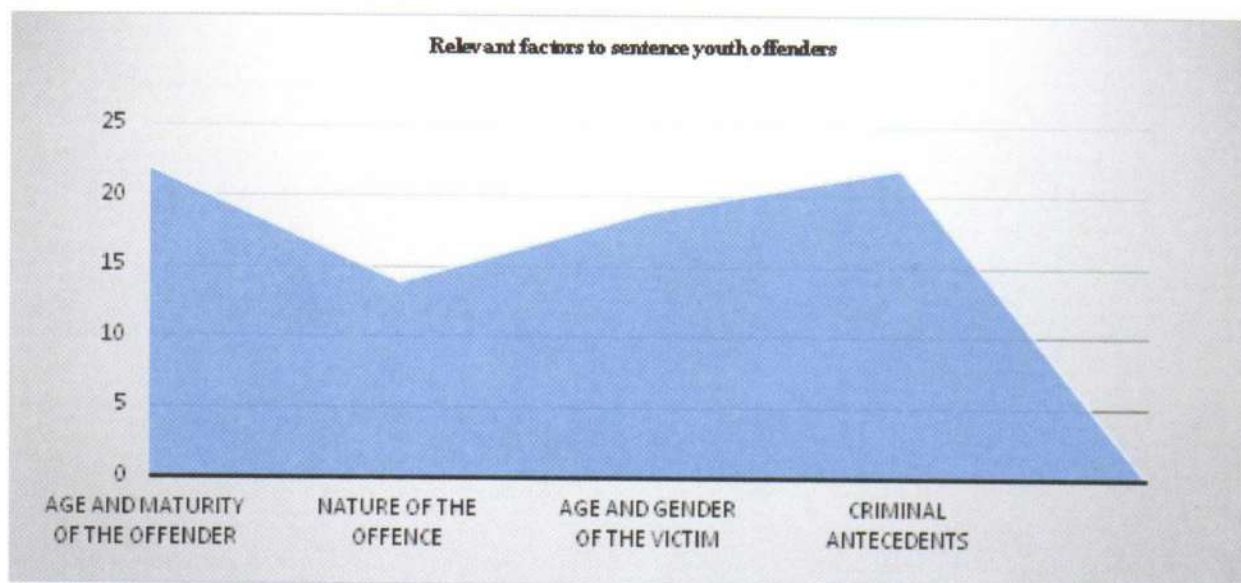

6. On relevant factors for awarding death sentence and for awarding life imprisonment to convict for offences committed against the state, judges opined that fear psychosis created in the minds of public would be relevant for any sentence in such offence.

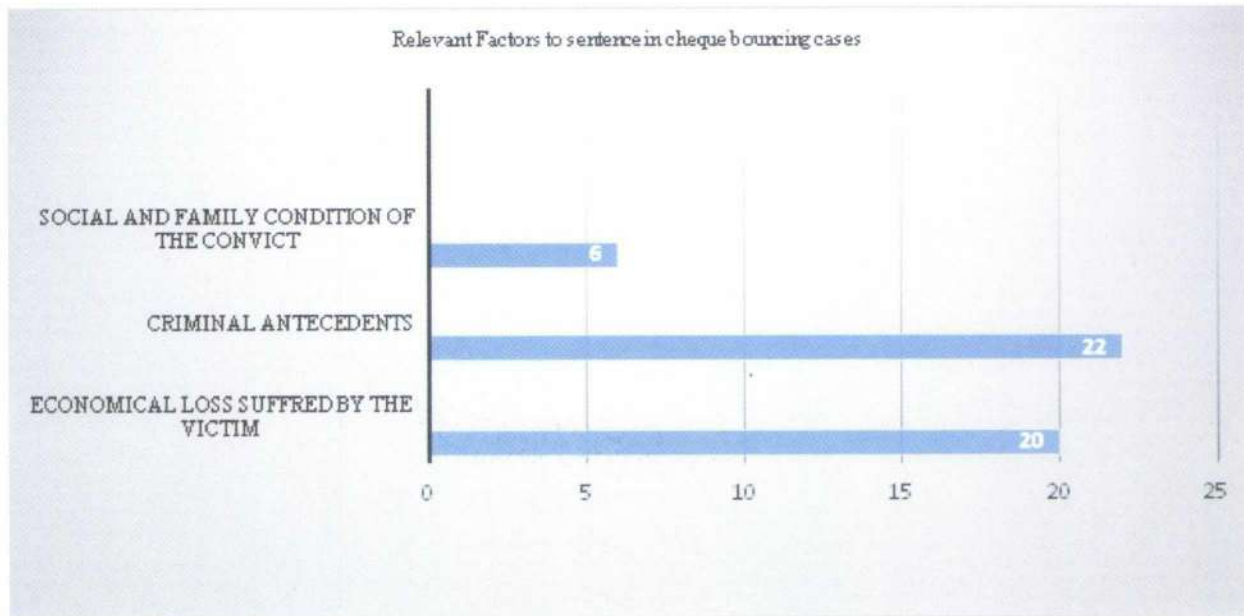

7. On relevant factors considered by judges in sentencing a convict in money laundering cases, as many participating judges were not handling cases of money laundering, only 11 responses emerged which can be summed up as:

8. On relevant factors taken into consideration while sentencing a youth offender, following responses emerged from the Judges:

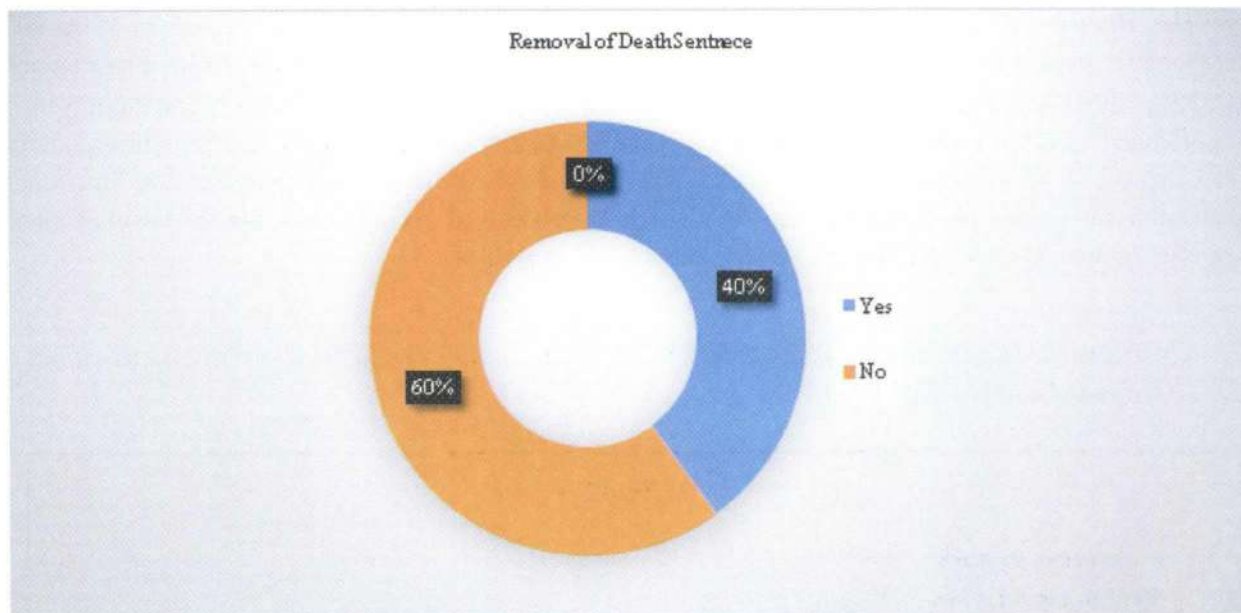

9. On relevant factors taken into consideration while sentencing convict in cheque bouncing cases, apart from criminal history of the convict, economic loss suffered by the victim emerged as response provided by majority of judges.

10. On question about the factors considered to be relevant to sentence a convict in bribery case, judges opined that they will sentence the convict only when they are satisfied that the convict is guilty beyond reasonable doubt. Some other factors apart from criminal history of the accused cited were:

11. On whether judges support the removal of death sentence as recently proposed by the Law Commission of India in its 262 Report, out of 25 judges, 10 judges supported such removal whereas 15 judges did not agree and wanted the government to retain death penalty.

12. On question whether life imprisonment can be a good alternative to death sentence following responses emerged as set out in the next figure :

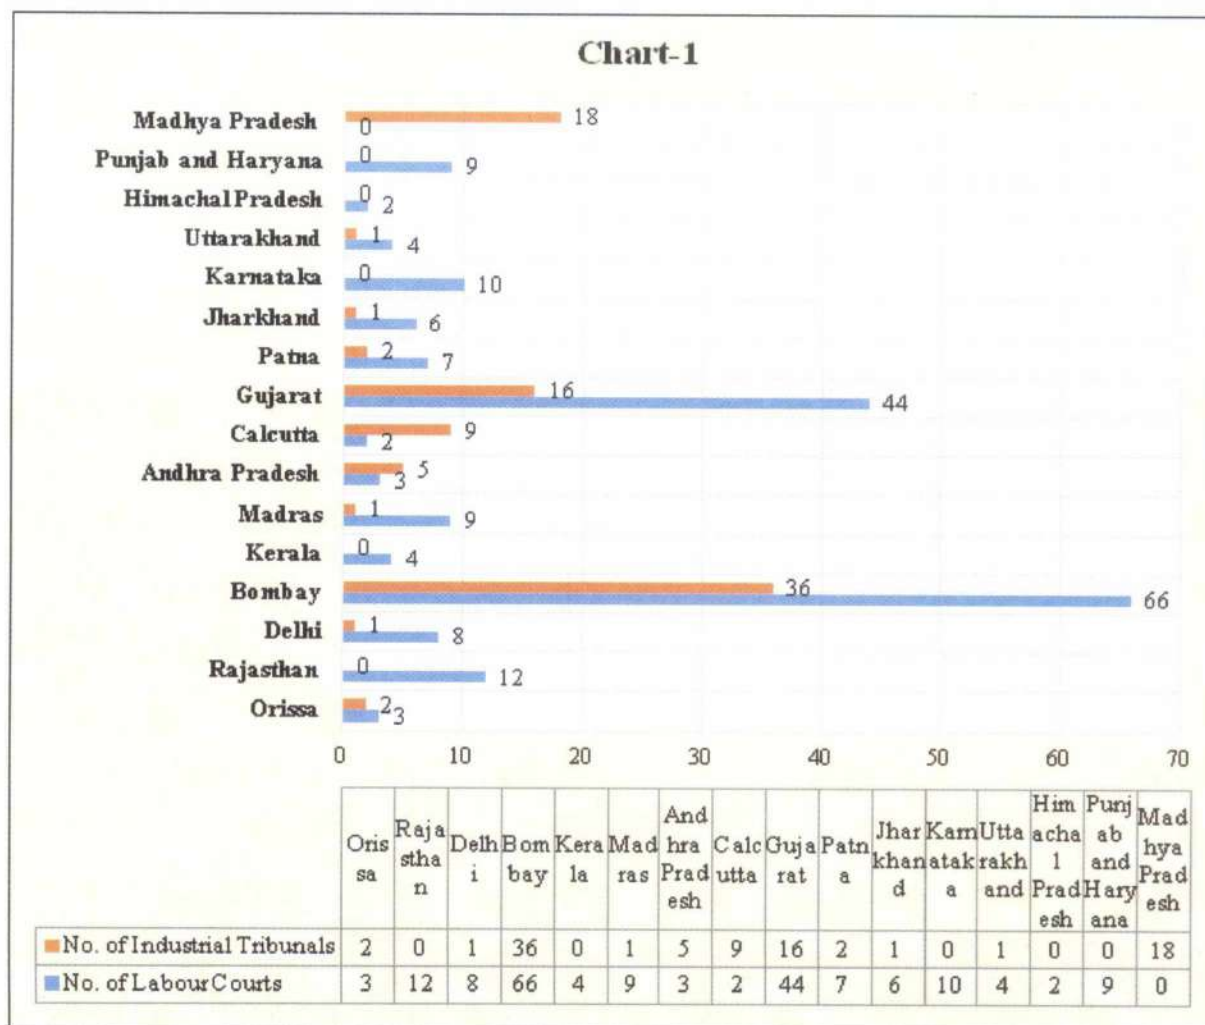

P-951: Seminar on Employment Laws and Judicial Practice, Response by Judges

Shivaraj S. Huchhanavar, Research Fellow, NJA and Nitika Jain, Law Associate, NJA

The NJA, Bhopal organized a 4-days Seminar on Employment Laws and Judicial Practice from 28th to 30th October 2015 to address issues of contract labour, social security measures, outsourced labour, unfair labour practices, domestic inquiry and need of striking balance between the interest of employee and employer. It was attended by 25 presiding officers of Labour Court/Industrial Tribunals. A pre training questionnaire consisting of 22 informative, subjective, and evaluative questions seeking organizational and functional details and operational problems was sent to all. The NJA received 26 responses. On the basis of these responses, graphical and deductive observations are made herein below.

1. On number of Labour Courts and Industrial Tribunals established in the respective State/within the jurisdiction of High Court

With the help of chart-1 drawn above one can infer that the highest number of Labour Courts and Industrial Tribunals are constituted in the State of Maharashtra. A total of 102 (66 LC+ 36 IT) industrial adjudication machineries are set up in Maharashtra followed by the State of Gujarat which has 60 (16+44) industrial and employment redressal forums. Also Gujarat has highest number of Industrial Tribunal (44). Further some of the most industrialized States of India (after Maharashtra and Gujarat) like Andhra Pradesh, Tamil Nadu, Punjab, West Bengal, and Karnataka have comparatively very few industrial and employment redressal forums.

2. On composition (adequacy of staff) of Labour Court and Industrial Tribunal

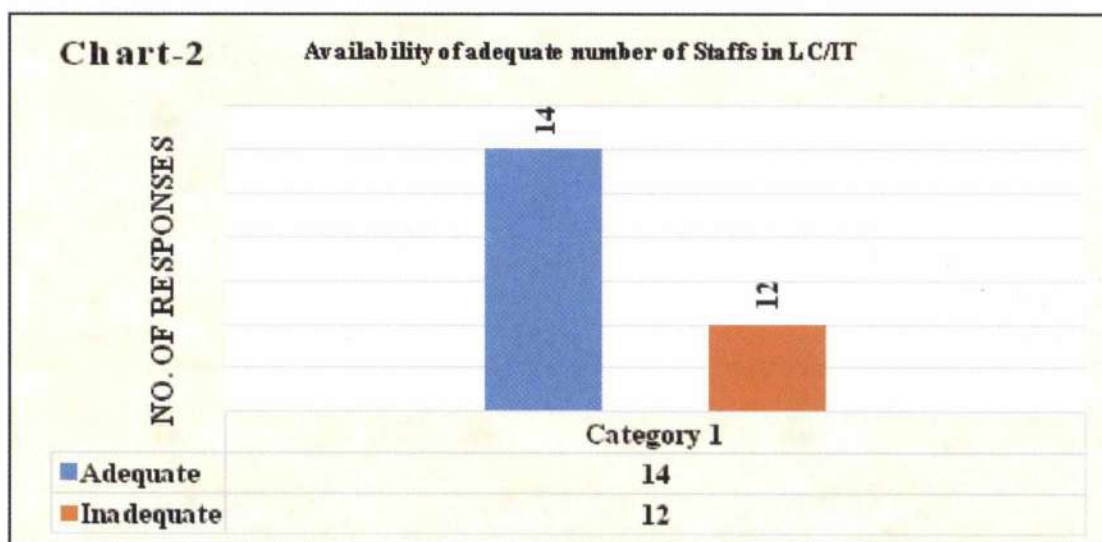

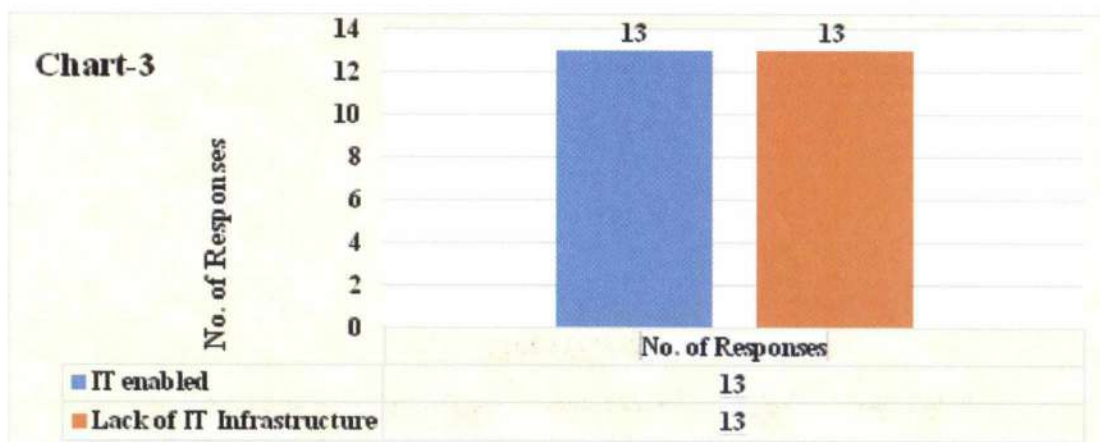

Chart 2 above provides that out of 26 responses, 14 presiding officers expressed that there are adequate number of supporting staff in their forum, whereas 12 participants expressed that they are facing the problem of inadequate or untrained staff.

3. On ICT infrastructure available at Labour Court and Industrial Tribunal

13 responses pointed out that their Labour Court/Industrial Tribunal is enabled with ICT infrastructure and remaining 13 judges expressed about lack of ICT infrastructure as shown in Chart-3 above.

4. On availability of (IT) trained Staff

Chart-4 shows that out of 26, only 7 stated that their Labour Court/Industrial Tribunal are facilitated with IT Trained Staff, whereas 13 stated lack of trained staff in their respective Labour Court or Industrial Tribunal. Remaining 6 participants did not respond to the question.

5. On frequency of taking assistance of Assessors in resolving Industrial/employment disputes by Labour Court/Industrial Tribunal

Industrial Dispute Act, 1947 authorizes a Labour Court, Tribunal or National Tribunal to appoint one or more persons having special knowledge of the matter under consideration before such Labour Court/Tribunal. Assessors partakes an important role in industrial adjudication and as an expert in the respective field s/he assist the adjudicatory body in correct assessment of fact or in suggesting right remedies (though of persuasive value) in the given situation. Accordingly, Presiding Officer may take the advice of assessors as and when required. Chart-5 shows that majority (18 responses) did not seek the advice of assessors, and only 4 responses shows that they rarely takes the assistance of assessors.

6. On approximate number of cases pending before Labour Court/Industrial Tribunal

Chart-7 shows that, average number of cases pending before the labour judiciary are generally more than 200 but less than 500. Out 26 judges, 13 had number of pending cases between 201-500. About 5 had cases pending before them between 1001-2000, and 2 had cases pending before them below 1000 but more than 501. Also 2 judges had pending cases before them less than 200 but more than 100. Lastly, 4 judges indicating that the number of cases pending are 50>, 51-100, 101-200 and <3000.

7. On average number of adjournments taken at 'pleadings stage' before Labour Court or Industrial Tribunal

Chart-7 shows that out of 26, 10 judges stated that average number of adjournment at pleadings stage is more than 5, another 9 judges stated that pleadings stage takes on an average 3 adjournments, 3 other judges affirmed that 4 adjournments are needed at pleadings stage, another 2 judges opined that pleadings stage needs on an average of 5 adjournments. Therefore we can infer that at the pleadings stage, generally more than 5 adjournments are taken.

8. On average number of adjournment taken at 'Evidence Stage'

Out of 26 responses, 10 judges indicated that the Evidence Stage of the case takes more than 6 adjournments, 8 judges responded that on an average evidence appreciation stage takes 4 adjournments, about 5 judges responses recorded that it takes 5 adjournments and the remaining 3 judges noted that on an average evidence appreciation in an Industrial Disputes takes 6 adjournments.

9. Reasons for adjournment in labour matters

Adjournment in labour matters is mostly due to carelessness of parties, followed by difficulty of parties or difficulty of legal representatives of parties as inferred from the 26 responses received from participant presiding officers of Labour Courts. Apart from these, some of the other reasons for adjournment as specifically mentioned by the participants were, lack of effective representation of workmen in majority of cases, non-observance of time frame fixed for adjudication and lesser number of courts in some places.

10. Factors affecting time length of a labour dispute proceeding in labour court/ industrial tribunal

Chart-10 shows the factors affecting the time taken to decide a dispute. 12 out of 26 responses stated that the duration of proceedings mostly depends on collection and recording of evidence, followed by procedural requirements and the efficiency of parties in filing the pleadings. The presiding officer's efficiency in law is another factor affecting the duration of a proceeding in Labour Court or Industrial Tribunal.

11. Average number of hearings required to decide an industrial dispute

Chart 11 shows that out of 26 judges, 9 pointed out that adjudicatory process takes about 10 to 15 hearings, 8 stated 15 to 20 hearings on an average and 3 stated that it take more than 25 hearings to decide an industrial dispute depending on the factors mentioned in Chart-10 (above).

12. Application of Unit system to labour Judiciary

On question whether they are supposed to adhere to the unit system, Calcutta, Kerala, Patna, Jharkhand and Uttarakhand stated that they need not to adhere to the unit system whereas remaining from 9 High Courts follow the Unit system.

13. Right to Legal Representation/Aid of a workmen by an Advocate

In the absence of Supreme Court Judgment on legal representation by an advocate, whether the employees by virtue of constitutional provisions and Legal Services Authorities Act, 1987 entitled for Legal representation/aid, even though the ID Act 1947 debars such right without consent of other party. Out of 25 responses, 17 responded affirmatively by stating employees are entitled to legal representation whereas 8 of them said no that such right is not available as barred by the Industrial Disputes Act 1947.

14. Whether consent of the other party for availing legal representation under Sec. 34(4) of ID Act 1947 can be implied, oral or it must be in written form

According to Sec 34(4) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 consent of the other party is required for legal representation. On the question whether such consent should be oral written or implied/ inferred from the conduct of the parties, 17 presiding officers opined that consent can be implied or inferred from the conduct of the parties as represented in Chart-14.

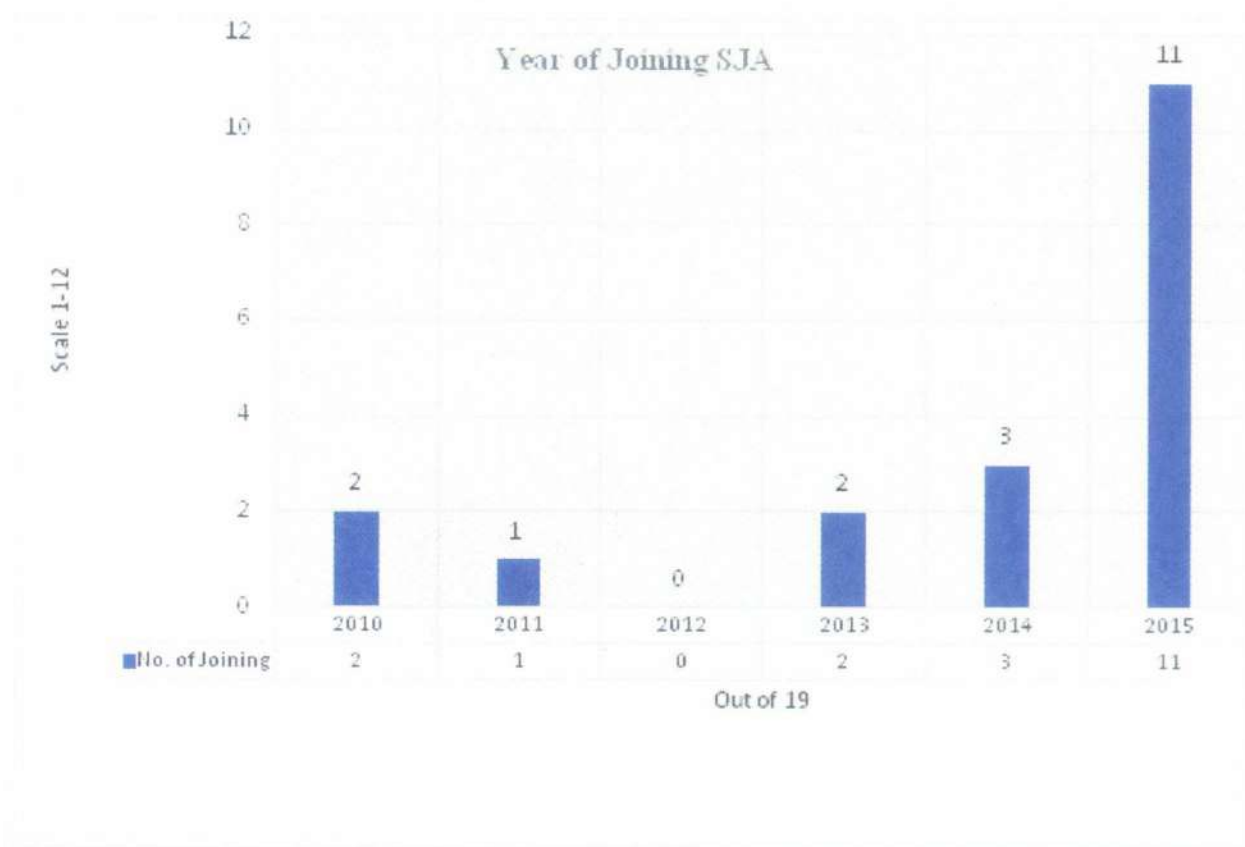

Participants also made certain suggestions for making the Labour Courts and Industrial Tribunal more efficient. The suggestions included good infrastructure, skilled and trained IT staff to be provided to Labour courts and industrial tribunal, proper library, training to the presiding officers in regular intervals to acquaint them with recent developments, fixed tenure for presiding officers of Labour Courts/ Industrial Tribunal and no gap in posting the PO, strict observance of time schedule fixed for adjudication, proper legal representation and aid to parties and execution power of the award must be conferred on the Labour Courts and Tribunals.

P-953: Conference on Judicial Ethics and Accountability, Responses by Judges

Pragya Aishwarya, Law Associate, NJA

The NJA organized a 3 days conference on Judicial Ethics and Accountability from 6th to 8th November, 2015 for high court judges on various dimensions of ethical principles and standards of accountability provided in Bangalore Principles, Nolan Principles of public life and in the Restatement of Values of Judicial Life. To prepare for the conference, a questionnaire was sent to the Registrar Generals of all 24 high courts on nature and level of compromise of ethical values by judicial officers. Out of 24, the NJA received 14 responses. These are reproduced graphically below to understand national picture:

1. Officers removed during probation

As shown above, maximum number of judicial officers, about 14 of them, were removed during probation, from Allahabad high court. These 14 probationary judicial officers from Allahabad high court were dismissed from service on grounds of scuffle between them at a local restaurant. Other reasons that emerged from other high courts as grounds for removal of officers during period of probation were:

- Work conduct and unsatisfactory ACR remark
- In interest of judicial administration
- Not found fit for service
- Doubtful integrity
- Mala fide intention
- Incompetence
- Corruption

2. Judicial officers given compulsory retirement

The above chart shows that from Jharkhand high court maximum number of officers were given compulsory retirement. From responses received from different high courts following reasons emerge as grounds for granting compulsory retirement:

- Not found fit to continue beyond 55/58 years
- Complaints and adverse reports from district judges
- Past service records and Annual Confidential Record (ACR) remarks
- Quality of work
- Allegations of indecent behaviour
- Irregularities and violation of procedural formalities
- Misconduct

3. Judicial officers suspended from service

As evident from above graph, maximum numbers of officers were suspended by Jharkhand high court and least by Himachal Pradesh high court. The main reasons of suspending judicial officers by high courts were provided as follows:

- Complaints and report of administrative judge
- Corruption
- Sexual harassment
- Favouritism
- Incompetence, arbitrariness and lack of diligence
- Poor Knowledge of law and ignorance of procedure
- Judicial and Financial Impropriety
- Misappropriation of public money

4. Judicial Officer dismissed from service

Maximum numbers of officers were dismissed from service by the Karnataka high Court, the reasons being charges of corruption, favouritism, injustice etc. Reasons of dismissal of officers by other high courts can be summarized as follows:

- Complaints
- Injustice and favouritism
- In public interest
- Quality of work
- Ill reputation
- Tarnishing the reputation of state judiciary
- Corruption
- Moral Turpitude

5. Judicial officers facing departmental/vigilance Inquiries

As per the responses received, from Allahabad high court maximum officers have been facing departmental/vigilance inquiries. Reasons for which officers are facing vigilance inquiries in different jurisdictions are:

- Complaints
- On the basis of reports from Registrar Vigilance
- Corruption
- Doubtful integrity
- Involvement in criminal case
- Adverse entry in ACR
- Dereliction of duty
- Sexual harassment

6. Judicial Officers who have been kept under scanner for any other reasons

From High Court of Punjab and Haryana a total of 29 judicial officers have been kept under scanner on the basis of complaints and adverse annual confidential remarks. From Jharkhand high court, officers have been kept under scanner for the following reasons:

- Accessing their suitability to continue after age of 55/58 years
- For grant of ACP of civil judge
- Adverse entry in ACR regarding doubtful integrity and impartiality
- Under provisions of Jharkhand service code

From Patna High Court 5 officers have been kept under scanner for a specific period the reasons being:

- Alleged involvement in criminal case
- On the basis of adverse entries in the Annual confidential report

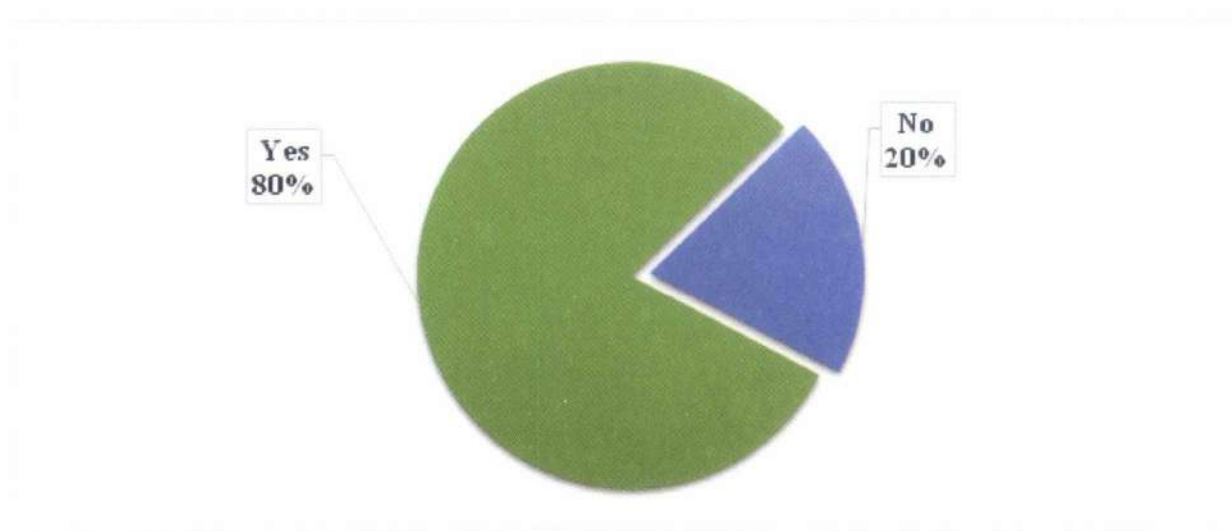

Madras high court has 3 officers kept under scanner on charges of corruption and other allegations. From Guwahati high court one officer has been kept under scanner on the allegations of corruption. The reasons given by Kerala high court are anomalies noted in inspection report by the Registrar (Vigilance), allegation that the officer performs duty under the influence of alcohol and gives favourable orders to young lady advocates.

P-954: Workshop on Access to Justice: Response by

Rajesh Suman, Assistant Professor, NJA

The NJA organized a 3-days workshop on access to justice issues from 13th to 15th November 2015 attended by 29 Principal District Judges (PDJs) from all over India. It led to discussions and debates amongst them on various issues related to access to justice. The Questionnaire was distributed to all 29 participants out of whom 25 responded. Herein below graphical presentation of those 25 responses is prepared.

National Judicial Academy

Conceived in early 1990s by the Supreme Court of India, the NJA had to wait nearly a decade to get its infrastructure in place. On September 5, 2002 the then President of India, Dr. A.P.J. Abdul Kalam, formally dedicated to the Nation, the beautiful sprawling complex of the NJA, spread over 62 acre campus overlooking the Upper Lake at Bhopal. The President on the occasion released a Second Vision for the Republic in which a new and dynamic role for the judiciary was envisaged with a view to make India a developed country by 2020. "The Academy", he said, "may aim at developing attitudinal changes to improve judicial integrity and efficiencies". The NJA is now ready to commence that rather challenging journey towards achieving higher standards of excellence in delivery of justice through human resource development and techno-managerial upgradation.

Registered as a Society in 1993 under the Societies Registration Act (1860), the NJA is managed by Governing Council chaired by the Chief Justice of India. The Governing Council consists of two senior most Judges of the Supreme Court of India and three Secretaries to the Government of India from the Departments of Law and Justice, Finance and Legal Affairs. The mandate of the Academy under the Memorandum of the Society include following objectives:

- (i) to establish a center of excellence in the study, research and training of court management and administration of justice and to suggest improvements to the judicial system;
- (ii) to provide training and continuing legal education to judicial officers and ministerial officers of the courts; and
- (iii) to disseminate information relating to judicial administration, publish research papers, books, monographs, journals etc. and collaborate with other institutions both within the country and abroad.

With the support and guidance of the justices of the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India, the NJA has launched an ambitious plan of research, education and training activities to give the judiciary - the required intellectual inputs to assist the judicial system in dispensation of quality and responsive justice.
